Mrs. French's Indictment To Be Asked Friday

MURDER CHARGE WILL BE SOUGHT BY CHIEF POOLE

Coroner's Jury Takes Only Five Minutes To Order Garmon's Slayer Held for Jury.

GUN CARTRIDGES BOUGHT MONDAY

Clerk in Hardware Store Tells of Purchase Few Hours Before Shooting on Ninth Street.

Indictment of Mrs. Peggy French du a charge of first degree murder for the fatal shooting of John S. Garmon in her East Ninth street home early Tuesday will be asked of the grand jury Friday, Chief of Detectives
A. Lamar Poole announced Wednesday night.

"The detective bureau has just about cleaned up its investigation of the case," Chief Poole said. "We have enough evidence to warrant the immediate indictment of Mrs. French and I think it will be found irrefutable when she is placed on trial."

Chief Poole said the evidence would be placed in the hands of Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens this morning so that he would have ample time to prepare the true bill which will be asked of the grand jury.

Two Main Witnesses.
The testimony of two witnesses,
Mrs. C. W. Garmon, mother of Mrs.
French's victim, and Felton S. Webb, young clerk in a downtown hardware store, which resulted in Mrs. French being held for murder by a coroner's jury Wednesday, is being relied upon by the state as the strongest obtained thus far, Chief Poole said.

"To Mrs. Garmon, Mrs. French insisted direct threat that she was going to kill Garmon and from young Webb last Monday afternoon, less than 12 hours before the slaying, she bought a box of cartridges," Chief Poole said. "I think the statements of these two witnesses will prove most damaging."

Efforts to locate Mrs. Ruth Rogers, estranged wife of a railroad engineer, proved futile Wednesday. In her testimony at the coroner's inquest Wednesday Mrs. Garmon declared that she was taking the life of her son, Mrs. French had said "If I can't have him, Ruth shall not have him."

Pressed for further identification of "Ruth," Mrs. Garmon named Mrs.
Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers Not at Home.
Mrs. Rogers, since separating from her husband in mid-December, is said to have been living with a sister at 1313 Gordon street. No one replied to requests for admittance at the Gordon street residence Wednesday.
The shades in the house were drawn
and there was no sign of activity about. Friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Rogers declared they had no idea
of her whereabouts.

Though the report could not be verified, it was said that Mrs. Rogers had been living with a sister at 1313 Gordon street. No one replied
to requests for admittance at the
Gordon street residence Wednesday.
The shades in the house were drawn
and there was no sign of activity
about. Friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Rogers declared they had no idea
of her whereabouts.

Tells of Buying Shells.
"I looked at the pistol and gave her the cartridges to it," Webb said.
"One of her eyes was badly discolored and she said it was due to a fall she sustained when a man, who she said she believed to be a negro, tried to enter her home last week. She said she wanted to be prepared if the man returned."

Mrs. Garmon's testimony was brief, it covering only the telephone call she said she received from Mrs. French, which she said came last Tuesday night. She also declared that on earlier previous occasions, the dates of which she did not recall, Mrs. French made similar threats.

Other witnesses at the inquest included W. D. Howell, live stock agent for the Southern railway, for which company Garmon was chief dispatcher. Mr. Howell, a brother of Garmon's widow, also named Mrs.
Rogers as the person he believed Mrs.
French was living with.

Senate Opposition To Hughes Grows

TONNAGE QUOTA ISSUE DRAWS NEAR

Crucial Point Looms at London Parley on Naval Reduction.

BY FRANK H. KING,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
LONDON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Moving slowly like a ship in a sea infested with submarines, the London naval conference in its voyage toward disarmament today reached the danger zone of tonnage figures.

Approximately, the most significant accomplishment of the five-power delegations today was making a start toward limitation of submarine activities in war time, or their "humanization," as provided for in American and French resolutions presented at yesterday's plenary session.

A sub-committee of experts with legal knowledge will take the resolutions by Henry L. Stimson and Georges Leygues in hand tomorrow morning and begin necessary adjustments to make them fit into the London disarmament treaty.

The other outstanding accomplishment of the conference today was acceptance of the experts' report for a compromise tonnage plan combining the global and category fleet measurement system.

Tonnage figures still were absent from this cross-word puzzle scheme on which the experts had been working ten days. On a diagram of little white squares, which await the final tonnage figures of each nation and detailed tonnage figures for each category of warship, the simple essence of two bits of line about an inch long pictured settlement of one of the most difficult questions which confronted them when they arrived in London last month.

The essence of the line between categories of cruisers and destroyers depicted simply and graphically that tonnage for these classes is lumped as a whole and can be transferred 100 percent from one class to the other.
But the line was drawn only in the columns showing French and Italian tonnage, as the global theory is applied to these two nations to meet their peculiar naval needs while Great Britain, the United States and Japan have their tonnage definitely boxed in five categories.

Transfers can be made only according to the percentage which is still to be agreed upon, and arguments today indicated that this arrangement would not likely be reached until the nations presented their detailed figures of fleet tonnage needs.

Several points still remain unsettled on the compromise tonnage scheme. First, the percentage of transfers has not been decided. The British desire that various types of warships be limited in gun power, as well as by tonnage. America and France entered reservations to this proposal as it concerns light cruisers, which the British want limited to about 7,000 tons.

Likewise, no decision has been reached regarding special and auxiliary vessels, which have not been included in any category but will be dealt with when the experts convene again tomorrow.

Aubrey Smith 'Loots' Grocery Of Bogus Money

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 12.—
(AP)—A bandit who said he was Aubrey Smith, escaped Georgia convict, held up the manager of a local chain store last night and escaped.

The bandit walked into the store and said:
"Stick 'em up. I am Aubrey Smith and I mean business. Hand over your pocketbook."

Confirmation of New Chief Justice Doubtful, With Vote Today.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)— Claiming additional votes every hour, senators opposing Charles Evans Hughes' nomination to be chief justice, waged an all-day attack upon his confirmation today which began to provoke speculation tonight over the final outcome.

Western republican independents who had opened the surprise assault on Hughes in the senate, were joined today by some democrats in debate.
Further severe denunciation of the economic views of the former supreme court jurist and former presidential candidate was made.

Unsuccessful in an effort for a night session to force a final vote, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, gave notice he would keep the senate in session tomorrow until a vote is obtained and added that he had the votes to do it.

Opponents of Hughes were obviously encouraged after a way of informal conference on the floor. Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Norris, of Nebraska, leaders of the fight against him, announced they would be ready for a vote by tomorrow night. They are making no public claims but the foes of Hughes believe there are from 25 to 30 votes against him.

No one predicted rejection of Hughes' nomination but with the tide obviously turning against him during the debate today, republican leaders conceded there might be 22 votes against confirmation.

Glenn's Champions Nominee.
Senator Glenn, republican, Illinois, alone went out to champion Hughes
during the day of his blunt discussion of the supreme court and of a nominee as has been heard in the senate in many years.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, opened the assault, contending the attitude of Hughes was "disgraceful to the common people" and condemning the views of the supreme court itself in utility valuation decisions.

Senator Connally, republican, Iowa; Wheeler, democrat, Montana, and Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, joined in an appeal for defeat of Hughes' nomination.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, announced in the midst of the fight that he would vote for confirmation of Mr. Hughes.

There was a movement among the republican ranks to force a session tonight but Senator Watson, after demanding such a course, yielded when democrats favored the Hughes nomination objected, and after Senator Norris warned that it would engender a bad spirit.

Senator Dill was among the most outspoken in the day of debate, which was marked by almost constant informal conferences among doubtful members on the floor. The confirmation of Hughes had been conceded and the surprise attack apparently stunned many in the senate.

There is a man who was decisively defeated by the American people for president because of his economic views," said Dill. "Is the will of the people not to be considered at all?"

"I insist by this vote to do what I can to put a stop to what I believe is one of the greatest dangers to this country, the placing of men on the supreme court who permit
the picking of pockets of the common people by the great corporations."

FROM ADEN CARS ENTERING GEORGIA UNDER U. S. SEAL

Medfly Inspectors Furnish Federal Protection to Liquor Cars, Is Charge.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE, WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(Special).—Automobiles loaded to capacity with liquor are crossing the Florida-Georgia line under the protection of the seal of the United States government, according to formal charges received by customs officials here from a high federal official in Florida and as a result bureau heads of three government departments here were busily engaged today endeavoring to place the blame for this protection given bootleggers.

The direct charge was made in the report from Florida that the Mediterranean fly inspectors, working under the agricultural department, have declined to assist in enforcing the dry laws. The definite charge was made that these inspectors, after examining cars for possible fruits carrying the fly, have placed the seal of the government on automobiles carrying hundreds of quarts of whisky.

The report also charges that these inspectors are operating under specific instructions not to concern themselves with prohibition violations. It is understood that these instructions were issued because of the fear that the bootleggers, who are now using the main highways to transport their liquor cargoes, would take to the back roads if they were molested by the state militia men who are charged with enforcing the agricultural quarantine.

It is further charged that the customs border patrol and state enforcement officials have been warned by those in charge of the insect quarantine to keep at least 90 feet away from the 44 inspection stations in Florida.

Department of agriculture officials admitted that the practice of placing federal government seals on automobiles bound for interstate touring had been in effect since the beginning of inspection by agents engaged in the Mediterranean fly eradication work, but officials of the prohibition unit of the treasury department were more reticent.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman, in charge of the department, following a statement presented to him by no knowledge of the situation beyond informal reports. He said he was informed of complaints from motorists who were annoyed by the department's action in refusing to admit that any official protests had been made to the department of agriculture. Officials of the latter department have been asked to make protests they have received have been troublesome and that the whole question, as it relates to legal technicalities, was being referred to the department of justice for consideration. Agriculture officials were unwilling to be quoted but said the matter had been referred to the attorney-general for consideration.

Reports of the situation have spread over the country and the Chicago Motor Club is threatening to send tourists through Chattanooga
and Birmingham instead of Atlanta.
Mr. Cook said, "The Chattanooga Motor Club already is warning tourists against Cobb county." He added,
"I insist by this vote to do what I can to put a stop to what I believe is one of the greatest dangers
to this country, the placing of men
on the supreme court who permit
the picking of pockets of the common people by the great corporations."

There is a man who was decisively
defeated by the American people for president because of his economic views," said Dill. "Is the will of the

Central Figures in Garmon Slaying

Above are three of the central figures in the slaying of John S. Garmon, chief dispatcher for the Southern Railway, killed early Tuesday morning by Mrs. Peggy French in her East Ninth street home. On the left top Mrs. French is shown leaving the Barclay & Brandon Undertaking company after being ordered held for murder by a coroner's jury. On the right is Mrs. Ruth Rogers, over whose affections Mrs. French is alleged to have become jealous and to have slain Garmon. In the lower left is J. M. Colley, lieutenant of police for the Southern, who accompanied Garmon to the French home.

COBB 'SPEED TRAP' HIT BY MOTORISTS

Protest Will Be Filed Today With County Official by Charles Cook.

Formal protest against an alleged speed trap in Cobb county will be lodged with Judge J. M. Stone, commissioner of Cobb county, today by Charles Cook, secretary of the Atlanta Motor Club. Mr. Cook announced Wednesday night.

Alleged road patrol methods of Cobb county officers constitute the "worst speed trap on United States Route 41 between Milwaukee and Miami—in fact, the only speed trap within that entire distance," Mr. Cook charged.

Mr. Cook stated that he has three affidavits and more than 50 letters from motorists who complained that they have been victims of this "speed trap" within the past few weeks. The officers come up behind a motorist in an expensive looking car, blow their horns a number of times and lure the motorists into a race," Mr. Cook said. "Then, when the motorist has been trapped into stepping on the gas, the officers speed up their powerful car, overtake him and bring him to Marietta, where they force him to put up a $30 cash bond."

Reports of the situation have spread over the country and the Chicago Motor Club is threatening to send tourists through Chattanooga
and Birmingham instead of Atlanta.

New York Dry Chief Plans Arrest of Personal Drinkers

BY SAM LOVE,
United News Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Dum-maged and skeptical, New York received word from Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell today that henceforth it would be considered sufficient grounds for arrest to be seen taking a drink of one's own liquor.

Almost a collective "Oh, Yeah?" greeted the newest pronouncement in the three-day-old drive to make Manhattan aware of the Volstead act.

But Campbell, whose federal agents have raided two mid-town hotels and a famous restaurant on successive nights, grimly announced a new system of espionage designed to drive
New York's open-handed drinking under cover.

"I have the authority," he said,
"conferred upon me by a decision of the supreme court, to arrest people who violate the law by drinking liquor in public places whether they buy it there or not. I am going to put a stop to the display and consumption of liquor in restaurants, night clubs and other public places in New York city."

Campbell added that he was "even authorized to arrest individuals possessed liquor in flasks," which was a part of the statement received by the more provincial New Yorkers with a skepticism founded upon ten years of carrying liquor in flasks without the slightest idea that carrying liquor in flasks had anything to do with prohibition in New York.

Federal sleuths, the administrator explained, are to be sent to restaurants and "public places" with instructions to make arrests of individuals who are drinking liquor in public places. If the drinker dilutes his own beverage with mineral water or ginger ale supplied by the management, the law is to be construed as a violation of the Volstead act calling for prosecution.

Campbell's plan to personalize the Volstead act in New York and attempt an enforcement similar to that in practice elsewhere in the United States is conceded to be the most far-reaching yet made by a prohibition administrator. Heretofore most New Yorkers have considered prohibition something for bootleggers and night club proprietors to worry about, and hardly the affair of private citizens whose only desire was occasionally to take a drink of something alcoholic.

Newspapers gave the Campbell flask-tooth edict large headlines. The consensus of available printed opinion was that the prohibition administrator was bound to make himself unpopular. Meanwhile, a hasty survey of the Times Square district revealed that a number of puzzled multifaceted individuals were fortifying themselves in the usual manner while discussing possible developments.

MAN IS ARRESTED FOR BUYING LIQUOR.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—
What was described as the first arrest ever made in Washington on a charge of violating the prohibition laws by buying liquor was made today with the detention of Joseph Patrick Carley, whom detectives said they found leaving a speakeasy with a half-pint of gin.

SLEUTHS REPORTED ENGAGED BY MEN UNDER JURY FIRE

Detectives Understood To Be Engaged in Following Witnesses Called in Investigation.

LEWIS J. BAILEY TO HELP HOWARD

Presence of City Firemen Indicates That Jury Is Continuing Its Probe
Into That Department.

Shadowing by private detectives of investigators and subpoena servers of the Fulton county February term grand jury in its investigation of alleged wholesale graft and corruption in the Atlanta city hall has been uncovered, sources close to the grand jury charged Wednesday.

Activities on the part of persons connected with the present city administration, whose names have been brought into the probe from time to time in rumors having their origin in the courthouse, were said by an official who would not permit himself to be quoted to have been run to earth by attaches of the office of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

Vigorous moves to combat any attempt to impede the grand jury or those who are pushing the investigation will be taken by the solicitor's office, this official said.

So far as could be learned Wednesday night, there have been no reports of actual efforts to interfere with or intimidate the grand jury's witnesses, other than rumors of witnesses having been questioned as to what they told the grand jury. Private detectives, said to have been imported from other cities, have been trailing investigators and subpoena servers from the office of the solicitor general, it was reported. Investigators attached to the solicitor's office are said to have reported seeing strangers loitering in the corridors near the grand jury room, and have been keeping check on those persons.

Information from a reliable source is to the effect that attempts are being made to "beat the grand jury to the punch" by learning the movements of investigators and others employed in the probe. These private detectives, it was said, have been employed by men whose activities in the city government brought forth the grand jury's recent denunciation of alleged graft and corruption.

ATLANTA PLANE TO TOUR TROPICS

20,000-Mile Flight of New Ship Includes Cuba and South America.

An Atlanta-built airplane—the first to be produced by the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation—will take the air from Candler field shortly after the first of March for a flight of almost 20,000 miles, which will include the West Indies and Central and South America in its itinerary, it was announced here Wednesday, by Edward Whithead, vice president in charge of sales of the aircraft corporation.

When such a proposed flight became known a conference was held Wednesday between officials of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club and officials of the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation, and the result was that the ship will fly to Cuba on the first leg of its flight as the advance emissary of Atlanta's good-will trade tour to Cuba
next month. At this first landing on foreign soil the great silver monoplane will extend greetings from Atlanta to the Cuban reception committee that, a few days later, will welcome the 200 good-will delegates from Georgia and Florida.

The local plane manufacturers are members of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club and their export manager, Charles De Ardesney, who formerly was vice president of the club, is now returning from an extended business trip to Cuba on the first leg of its flight as the advance emissary of Atlanta's good-will trade tour to Cuba
next month. At this first landing on foreign soil the great silver mono-
plane will extend greetings from

Carley was charged with "buying a $500 bond.

he did not order the charge booked

Texans Linked in Plot On Ortiz Rubio's Life

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Evidence that persons living in San Antonio, Texas, were involved in the know about the plot against the life of President Ortiz Rubio today was reported in a dispatch to La Prensa from San Luis Potosi to have been unconfirmed.

The dispatch said that detectives had arrested four more persons in San Luis Potosi. Among their possessions, it was stated, was found numerous addresses and telephone numbers of persons living in San Antonio which, together with other evidence, indicated implication.

Five persons also have been arrested in Jalapa, in the state of Vera Cruz, in connection with the investigation.

The child had been playing in the kitchen, his mother said, and in some manner the pea lodged in his nose. Physicians were unable to extract the pea, which had swelled to three times its natural size, until an operation was held.

WANTS FRIENDS TO KNOW ABOUT SARGON, HE SAYS

Was in Such Bad Physical Condition He Could Hardly Attend to Business, Says Cape.

"I have hundreds of friends in this vicinity and all over the State, especially among the church-going people, and I want every one of them to know about this wonderful Sargon."

"I am 60 years of age and always enjoyed the best of health, until January, 1929, when I was stricken with a severe case of 'flu' that left me very weak and rundown. I suffered with an old stubborn bronchial cough, and often I had awful pains through my chest that made it difficult to breathe. I was pulled down from 145 to 128 pounds and had so little energy that I'd just drag myself to the store and I couldn't do anything but sit in a chair after I got there. I often said that it was fortunate for my family and myself that I owned my own business, for it would have been impossible to hold down a job for somebody else. I was bothered with constipation, and I had so little appetite that the most carefully prepared foods wouldn't tempt me to eat. It seemed like every nerve in my body was on edge, for I was always cross and irritable, and I rarely ever got any restful sleep. This was my condition, not once in a while, but every day, and I was taking one medicine after another, but it was just like throwing money out in the street for all the good they did me.

"I started taking Sargon in March, 1929, and by May I had finished six bottles. It may sound unreasonable, but I regained every ounce of my lost weight—to be more exact, 17 pounds—and I believe I have as much strength and energy as I ever had. All the bad after-effects of the 'flu' left me, my nerves settled down, and I began to sleep like a log! I wake up feeling fine and stay that way all day long. Instead of sitting down in a chair all day like I did, I work early and late, and it's a real pleasure to jump around and wait on my customers.

"Since taking Sargon Pills my bowels are regulated and move every day now in a natural way. I will praise Sargon all the rest of my days for the good it did me."

The above statement was made by William Walter Cape, Route 2, Smyrna, an active member and deacon of Mt. Harmony Baptist Church. Mr. Cape runs a farm, grocery and filling station, and is highly esteemed by hundreds of friends.

The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

HONOLULU, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Sagunoro Kusunaka, 58, while fishing from the banks of the Waikeke canal today, was pulled into the water and drowned when a large fish jerked his line, catching him off balance. Kusunaka's son, 20 years old, was at his side but could not save him.

Paper Says Liquors Flow Freely Over Ice

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The Detroit News today says that dozens of automobiles daily are transporting beer and whisky over the ice of the Detroit river from Amherstburg, Ont., to Grosse Ile, Wyandotte and other down-river Michigan communities. "The rum runners," the newspaper says, "drive their unheated loads with little fear of the United States customs border patrol. Their chief anxiety is the condition of the ice, which a sudden thaw may make dangerous."

"From the upper end of Bois Blanc island to Grosse Ile," it adds, "the path over the ice of the Detroit river is well defined and as smooth as a fine boulevard."

Neely Will Discuss Bond Expenditures

Frank H. Neely will discuss "The Expenditure of Bond Funds" before the City Club at the regular luncheon to be held at the Piedmont hotel at 12:30 o'clock today. President Ernest C. Kontz and John H. Woods, secretary, urge all members to be present by 12:15 o'clock.

Committee To Pass On Hendricks Charges

Charges against Pat Hendricks, city electrician, will be considered at a meeting of the electric lights committee of council at 8 o'clock tonight, it was announced Wednesday by Councilman W. C. Jenkins, chairman. Several days ago, George Bradford, president of the Electro Construction Company, filed formal charges against the official with a view to his impeachment. The charges made against Hendricks were the result of his condemnation of wiring installations in the city hall structure. In the meantime steps are being taken to move into the new Atlanta city hall on February 22.

Two Held for Slaying During Tampa Holdup

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Harry Zenz and Ellis Delks, arrested in St. Petersburg late yesterday as Jacksonville robbery suspects, were held in jail here today without bond on warrants charging first degree murder growing out of the slaying of Jacob Highsmith and his 18-year-old son, Billy, who were killed February 1. The Highsmiths were fatally wounded by two unmasked bandits who attempted to rob their garage here. Zenz and Delks were arrested by St. Petersburg detectives on information from Jacksonville implicating them in a $4,000 burglary of the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith. Mrs. Smith's clothes were torn off by four unmasked bandits last Thursday night and a money belt which contained the $4,000 in cash was cut from her body. The bandits bound the Smiths and two guests at the Smith home with adhesive tape, looted the place and escaped. Zenz and Delks were identified in St. Petersburg by Mrs. Smith as two of the quartet wanted in Jacksonville.

Sickly Run Down People Now Getting Precious Vitamins Every Day

They Are Sure They Are Getting Them The Sensible Way

Every person needs Vitamin A and D—from them comes the vitalizing substance you are supposed to get from the various foods you eat.

Half sick, run down, anemic men, women and children need them and need them badly.

If you could depend on getting these precious health promoting Vitamins in the daily food you eat—you would not have to go further.

But it is seldom done. You would have to eat a variety of foods that are Vitamin tested and that is next to impossible. An able chemist after years of experiment has taken Vitamin A and D from pure Norwegian Vitamin tested cod liver oil and put them in small sugar coated tablets—as easy to take as candy.

In two of these energy creating tablets you get the equal of one full teaspoon of pure Cod Liver Oil—almost a miracle.

You avoid the fishy taste and the repulsive smell—but you do get the Vitamins—you are sure you are getting them.

Your doctor when he tells you to take cod liver oil will tell you that he is prescribing it for the Vitamins it contains—he will tell you that the greasy oil has no value.

Now when we say to all people whose health is below par that they are sure of getting these Vitamins in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets we are simply stating a proven truth.

And when we say to your physician that for every ailment, malady or rundown condition for which he prescribes cod liver oil that McCoy's are equally as good we are making a statement of fact—if it were not true we could not publicly publish it.

So all people who are striving for robust health, for greater energy, for keen mind and more power of endurance can now get all the precious Vitamins A and D they need by taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets as directed.

Take your Vitamins straight. And remember also that these tablets, rich in Vitamins, work wonders with puny, frail, underweight children whose bones and teeth are not developing properly and especially is this true when there are any signs of rickets.

Ask any druggist in America for McCoy's—precious but inexpensive—take them with every assurance that they are equally as potent in Vitamins as liquid cod liver oil 60 tablets 90 cents.

Overcome ITCHY SCALP

...a forerunner of baldness

An itchy scalp means that the baldness producing germ is at work—gradually and painlessly leading you to complete hair-loss. You must rid your scalp of this germ to prevent baldness and re-grow the hair which you have already lost.

To insure the complete extermination of this baldness producing germ within the shortest possible time, consult The Thomas', World's Leading Hair and Scalp Specialists. Do not gamble with general cure-all remedies which merely dissolve surface dandruff and spread the germs over a wider surface.

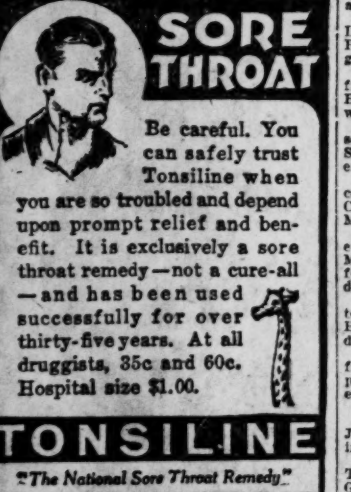

The 15-year proved Thomas' treatment goes to the source of your own specific trouble. It is the most perfect method known to modern science for stopping falling hair, eliminating the baldness producing germ and dandruff, and growing hair on the thin and bald spots.

You, too, can have a good head of hair. Call at the nearest Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination, and learn what this reliable treatment is doing for others and what it can do for you.

HINDENBERG GREETED NEW U. S. AMBASSADOR

Sackett Has Audience With Grizzled German President.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Frederick M. Sackett, of Kentucky, became Ambassador Sackett today noon when he was received by President Von Hindenburg in the gilded room of the executive palace reserved for reception of diplomats.

The German president accepted the American envoy's letter of credence, then listened to a brief address by Mr. Sackett stressing German-American friendship and reported in kind.

The American party occupied four motor cars in driving to the president's palace. In the first rode Mr. Sackett, accompanied by Count Franz Von Tattenbach, Chief of Protocol, while embassy aides occupied the others. At the executive palace an honor company presented arms to the rolling of drums as the ambassador stepped from his car.

After the formal exchange of addresses the German president and the American ambassador chatted a few moments. When he was leaving Mr. Sackett complimented Von Hindenburg on his health and vigor, and the German president replied with a smile.

"Well, I may be pretty old, but nevertheless—"

Here he stamped his foot and made a gesture as though he were about to start marching.

Burglar Scared Away By Screams of Girl

The screams of Miss Mary Cook, of 132 Ponce de Leon avenue, early Wednesday morning scared away a would-be burglar when members of her family were aroused from their slumbers and came to her aid. Miss Cook was awakened by the movements of the intruder in her room and screamed. The man came to her door and told her to be quiet but the approaching footsteps of her family frightened him away. Footprints were found in the soft earth beneath her window.

Ritchie Purchases Laboratory Supplies

Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, Wednesday purchased laboratory equipment valued at $4,800 for the Commercial and Washington High schools. The Atlanta board of education at first turned down a request of Commissioner William C. Sims, but after a second ward, that the material be bought, but later reconsidered and authorized the purchase.

Schools Observe 197th Birthday Of Empire State

Atlanta and Georgia school children celebrated the state's birthday Wednesday. Appropriate exercises were held in most schoolrooms, though no official program for all was sanctioned.

Fulton High, Atlanta, however, held special exercises, with the Rev. Adiel J. Moncrief, Jr., pastor of Oakland City Baptist church, delivering the principal address at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. This program was sponsored by the Joseph Habersham chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and all students were assembled in the auditorium of the school for the exercises which were climaxed by Mr. Moncrief's address. W. F. Dykes, principal, presided.

This was the only special observance accorded by an entire school, but in many grades and schoolrooms, brief homages were paid to the 197th anniversary of the state of Georgia. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta schools, issued a statement to all teachers and principals last week calling attention to the date and suggesting programs appropriate to the various grades and having to do with the history and resources of the state. Along the same lines, Miss Kate Harralson, in charge of musical education, issued a bulletin of songs and taught the various grades to sing them. These songs were part of the brief exercises held in the grades. Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, stated that his department made no special effort to have schools of Georgia observe the day because of the financial stress in some sections, but that such programs were encouraged. However, it was a matter for the individual teacher and the pupils to decide for themselves.

On February 12, 1933, Georgia will have been founded 200 years and a plan for a great celebration is planned. Many already are planning their part in the bi-centennial and Professor Sutton stated last week that during February he hoped that every grade in Atlanta's schools would begin to prepare itself for a proper celebration of this anniversary.

Rains Today May Put End To Sunshine

Showers today will bring to a halt a solid week of "made to order" weather, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. "It looks like we'll have a little rain at last," he said.

Wednesday afternoon, "and with conditions so unsettled in the west, it might keep up intermittently for the next few days."

The mercury in the official thermometer began its daily climb at the 38-degree mark Wednesday morning and reached a maximum of 56 in mid-afternoon. Today's range is expected to be from 45 up to an even 60.

Evangelist Jailed On Abduction Charge

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP) Rev. A. L. Shoemaker, itinerant evangelist here for three weeks was committed to the Polk county jail at Bartow today on a fugitive warrant for authorities at Alton, Ill., where he is said to be wanted for abduction. He was arrested at the close of his tent service last night as he shook hands with his congregation.

Annette Harris and Edith Hankin, each 21 years old, were detained by the city welfare department, following their alleged confession that they accompanied Shoemaker here. Officers said department of justice agents would be apprised of the case. Shoemaker is said to have a wife and two children at East Alton, Ill. He recently held meetings at Tampa and Winter Haven.

Two More Victories BY TANLAC OVER "RHEUMATISM" AND STOMACH AILMENTS

Only Medicine That Does What It Claims

says Nicholas J. Jansen

You folks who have tried medicine after medicine without benefit, take heart. Read this letter of Mr. N. J. Jansen and then let your conscience be your guide.

"Before starting Tanlac," said Mr. Jansen, "I was very run-down and suffered terrible agony from pains in every bone in my body. My back hurt until I felt it was pulling in two. My appetite was very poor and gas would form on my stomach and I would bloat until I thought I would burst. I couldn't sleep and didn't care whether I worked or not. I tried medicine after medicine and none gave me relief until I started taking Tanlac and this is the only medicine that does what it claims. Now I feel fine in every way. Pains no longer trouble me, my appetite is good, I sleep good and get up in the morning feeling like a new person."

Neuritis and Stomach Gas Ended For This Lady

You may think because you have been suffering so long and terribly that nothing will help you now. But you cannot read this letter of Mrs. Margaret Wallace without believing that there is hope for you, too, in Tanlac. "All the good things I could say about Tanlac would not express my true sentiments. For 18 years I suffered stomach troubles worse than anybody it seems to me. Gas filled and smothered me causing a pain around the heart and the pain would extend to my back and shoulders and then turn into neuritis. I suffered awfully. Whatever I ate resulted in heartburn. Tanlac is the only medicine that could cope with such severe troubles as mine. It relieved me fully, my stomach is in best condition in 18 years, no longer causing acid, gases and heartburn."

"SHALL SHAPE AND SHADOW OVERFLOW"

(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Legge Advises Farmers Again To Cut Acreage; Talmadge Criticizes Board

Federal Board Chairman Urges Farmers To Imitate Successful Methods of Industry.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Organization of farmers of the United States into co-operative growing and marketing groups and a marked reduction in cotton acreage were recommended here today by Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, in an address to the Association of Georgia Farmers.

Eugene Talmadge, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, who followed Legge as a speaker, said:

"It is all right to decrease production of anything if it will raise the price," but declared that tariff-free raw jute from India "takes the place of 2,000,000 bales of Georgia cotton in America."

The commissioner criticized the farm board for its reported action in "assigning the indebtedness of the cotton co-operative with the broker." Talmadge said it meant that cotton had not been sold but sold and that the indebtedness would have to be paid back "through the cotton they get."

Talmadge said it would be "all right to curtail cotton acreage in Georgia if you could grow something else." He declared the state could grow peanuts but not at a profit and that Georgia has excellent possibilities for the production of sugar but congress had defeated an increased tariff on sugar.

"The farmers of Georgia don't want any aid and we don't want any relief. All we want is justice. When you get what you are entitled to on the market you won't need it."

Mr. Legge delivered his first southern address here today as a member of the farm board and left the city to return to Washington before Talmadge began to speak.

Chairman Legge stressed the need for a reduction of cotton acreage and urged Georgia farmers to make cotton an incidental and not a principal crop.

The raisers of food are perhaps in a more distressing condition as a class than any other class in the country, Legge said.

The principal difficulty is in their individual, and lack of co-operative efforts. Six and a half million farmers, competing against each other in markets, cannot do the work of central, co-operative organizations. This has proven true in industry as against the farmers working individually—the tendency of industry has been toward the grouping together of efforts.

"Marketing conditions are given close study in industry and production is gauged accordingly. The individual farmer views his problems only so far as he can see. Without information as to markets and production, he does the best he can. But when he ships his product to the market for sale, his loss is heavy."

Georgia No Longer Cotton State. Turning to the cotton situation, with especial regard to Georgia, Legge said:

"Georgia once was a great cotton state but I cannot analyze in any way how this state can ever be a great cotton state again."

"Texas and Oklahoma can produce cotton without fertilizer and with much less cost than in Georgia, and in addition, there is increased foreign production and competition from artificial cloths."

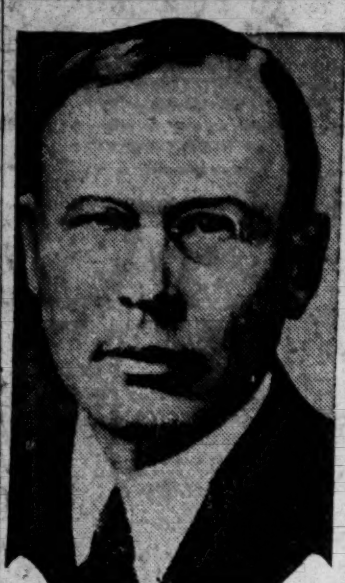

"Georgia already has done a lot toward reducing cotton acreage and it is wise to reduce further since so many other fellows can raise cotton cheaper than you can. Today, notwithstanding our appeals, they are planting cotton in chicken yards and in every available space in Texas."

Reduction Is Essential. "This brings us to the question, what shall we do?"

"I don't advocate that you cut out cotton entirely, but you ought to treat it as the central belt treated wheat; they now regard wheat as an incidental crop and not as the principal crop. As such, the picture, that is, pretty much what I have said for the southeastern cotton growing states."

"I don't believe you are through with cotton reduction. Livestock and food products of all kinds might be produced. First of all, feed the people of Georgia which you are not doing now. I am told that Atlanta consumes more butter in eight months than the entire state produces in a year."

Redbuds Are Aflame, Jessamines Abloom, Spring Is Unveiled

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 12.—Spring is unveiled in Thomasville. The yellow jessamine are blooming all along the roadside, the redbuds are aflame in the woods, wild plum trees are blossoming in the hedgerows, and along the edge of the forest, and the spruce is budding in the flower yards. All this, even to the most casual observer, indicates that springtime is at hand, notwithstanding the fact that February 14, 1899, was the date of the coldest weather ever experienced in this locality.

There is also the need of financial assistance in the beginning of production of new foodstuffs. It takes money to buy dairy cattle and it requires the assistance of your own people to begin now.

"The quality of crops produced also should be taken into consideration. Effort should be expended not to see how much you can produce but how good the product should be. Do you realize that for 20 years the quality of your cotton has gone down, while in poor ignorant India their cotton sells at a premium because it has constantly increased in quality?"

C. B. McCullar, of Milledgeville, president of the fair association, in an address to the morning session demanded a reduction in rates charged for electric power and lighting and expressed the belief that a favorable schedule of rates would be worked out before the convention is ended tomorrow night.

Chairman Legge was introduced by R. W. Hatcher, of Milledgeville, former president of the National Retail Hardware Association.

Following the address of the farm board chairman, E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland; Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, and Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, spoke to the convention.

A banquet tonight at the Baldwin hotel was the last event on the day's program.

1929 Export-Import Figures at Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Imports and exports of the district of Georgia No. 17 during the year 1929 were valued at $76,601,288, according to figures obtained at the local customs house today. Exports amounted to $57,912,118, and imports to $18,689,170.

Merchandise to and from foreign countries passing through Savannah, the chief port in the district, accounted for most of the total. Imports from foreign countries were valued at $15,977,809 and exports at $35,125,079.

More than half of the export business was done in the last four months of the year, when $35,573,945, or more than 60 per cent of the total for the year was exported.

Annual Conference of Georgia Organization To Be Held at Agnes Scott.

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 12.—The annual conference of the Georgia Volunteer Union for foreign missions, which is a unit of the student volunteer movement for foreign missions in the United States and Canada, will meet at Agnes Scott College Friday.

About 350 delegates representing all the different colleges and universities in Georgia are expected to be present and provision has been made by members of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of Decatur to entertain them in their homes.

The general theme of the conference is to be "The World Mission of Christianity, and the program will include addresses on such topics as "The History of Christian Missions from Pentecost to Today," "A Wakeful World," "Christian Student and Their World Mission," "The Unfinished Task of Christian Missions," "The Cost of Christ's Way" and others.

The platform speakers will include Dr. William C. Robinson of the Columbia Theological Seminary, Dr. Scott Patterson, returned missionary from Africa; Rev. Weyman C. Taylor, associate secretary of the student volunteer movement for foreign missions, of New York city; Dr. Darby Fulton, of the Presbyterian Foreign Mission board; Rev. J. M. Connally, of Paine College, Augusta, Ga., and others. Dr. R. O. Thayer, Louisville, D. Newman, of Hickory, and student volunteers will lead the daily devotional and prayer services.

J. R. VAN BUREN DIES AT GRISWOLDVILLE, GA.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—James R. Van Buren, 80, known as a direct descendant of former President Martin Van Buren, died at his home near Griswoldville, Ga., tonight.

Mr. Van Buren was born in Stillwater, N. Y., where he received his early education, but he came to Georgia when a small boy. He had served for 12 years as trustee of the Georgia State Sanatorium and was elected an alternate to congress in 1906.

For a number of years he represented the 21st district as state senator and at one time was prominently mentioned as a candidate for state treasurer. He declined to run on account of extensive farming interests. Mr. Van Buren's wife, formerly Miss Laura Whitehouse Massey, of Wilkinson county, died in 1916.

A brother, Olin M. Van Buren, resides at Lockport, N. Y., and eight children, residing in various sections of Georgia and Florida, also survive.

Tablet Is Unveiled For Georgia Day

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The Georgia Society of the Colonial Dames of America commemorated the landing of General Oglethorpe 197 years ago today with unveiling of a bronze tablet at the site of his house, now the customs house at Bull and Bay streets.

The program of the ceremonies, held late this afternoon, included presentation by Mrs. Craig Barrow, president of the Georgia Colonial Dames; unveiling, by Mrs. P. W. Meldrum, honorary president of the society; acceptance for the government, by J. J. McManus, vice president of the Federal Business Association; acceptance for the city, by Mayor Gordon Saussey, and an address by Rev. C. C. J. Carpenter, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

The Colonial Dames have prepared an exhibit tonight of many historical objects.

Eight Georgians Held For Thefts of Autos

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Eight arrests have been made by federal authorities to date and the defendants brought to Savannah from Emanuel, Bulloch and Tattnall counties charged with violating the national motor vehicle theft act.

Those who have been charged with stealing automobiles and who have either given bond for appearance or are in jail here in default of bonds, are J. D. Bird, Metter; F. W. Dudley, Stillmore; A. J. Vaughn, Cobb County; Roscoe Nails, Cobb County; Giles Cowart, Cobb County; J. S. Saunders, Alline; J. H. Rushing, Bulloch County, and Pete Collins, Stillmore. Federal authorities allege that the men are operating as a gang of automobile thieves in this section of the state and other arrests are expected.

New Mill To Be Built.

ROME, Ga., Feb. 12.—The erection of the building to be occupied here by the Theo Stivers Milling Company will start immediately, it was learned today.

The output of the company will be six hundred barrels per day. It is thought that hundreds of workers will be brought into Rome within the next few days to begin the construction work on the mill. Twelve executives of the Theo Stivers Milling Company are already in attendance at the company's offices recently opened here and they and their families will be permanent citizens of Rome.

Applying Schools Stripped of Funds Close February 28

BAXLEY, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—With the end of this month approximately 32 schools in Appling county will be forced to close due to lack of funds. H. J. Parker, county school superintendent, declared tonight. This will leave only eight schools open in the county and the probabilities are a number of these will be forced to shut their doors.

Mr. Parker said with the closing of the schools it will mean that over 3,000 pupils will be given a holiday until next September. The teachers have been notified that their services will not be required after February 28, the superintendent said. Only one payment has been received from the state and that was only a small sum paid last October. Since then all the county educational funds have been exhausted and it is impossible to get further credit. Mr. Parker said, "We owe our local banks almost $10,000 and we have an added debt of $10,000 on notes held by the old National Bank of Battle Creek, Mich."

The notes held by the Michigan bank were made last year and we have been unable to get them paid. At present, the state failed to pay us," the educator stated. "The teachers have received no pay since early in November and salary checks have been issued to them by the county school board in an effort to relieve the situation but the teachers are forced to sacrifice eight per cent of their salaries to get the checks cashed," he continued. "In many instances the teachers have been unable to get the scrip cashed," he said.

The school board is now confined to Appling and Laurens counties," the head of the county system said, "but it is probable that the schools in numerous counties in the southern section will be forced to end their terms shortly," he concluded.

Lutheran Synod Elects Officers

MACON, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—

The closing session of the Lutheran Synod of Georgia and adjacent states will be held Thursday morning at the Lutheran church here, at which time the question of the joint support of Newberry College will be decided.

The question was under discussion through much of the day, but on account of other business matters was left to be disposed of today.

The question of joint support of Newberry College was presented by Dr. A. McCullough in the absence of Dr. S. J. Derrick, who is expected upon for a serious condition today.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of present officers. The present was not up for election as his office is for two years. The officers are: Rev. W. A. Reiser, Augusta, president; Rev. L. Boyd Hamm, Macon, secretary; D. E. Wilson, Atlanta, statistician; Rev. R. L. Gann, Savannah, treasurer, and Rev. H. L. Black, Savannah, member executive committee.

Talks were heard from Rev. Paul M. Courts, missionary from Liberia; Arthur P. Black, Washington, on the United Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Jno. McEachern Elected Peace Conference Chairman; Meeting Place Not Chosen

Barrage of Peace Letters to the President and Congress Suggested by Miss Rankin.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The third Georgia conference on the Cause and Cure for War adjourned here today after adopting a resolution urging the London naval conference to immediately abolish battleships and substantially reduce other classes of naval vessels.

Copies of the resolution, which was offered by the secretary of the Georgia Federation of Labor, Louis D. Marquardt, of Atlanta, were sent to President Hoover, Senators Harris and George, of Georgia, and American delegates to the London parity.

Another resolution, offered by Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, Boston, Mass., peace worker, urged immediate ratification of the inter-American arbitration treaty by the United States.

The nomination Tuesday of Mrs. Jno. McEachern, of Atlanta, as chairman of the conference to succeed Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, of Atlanta, was approved, and Mrs. Jacobs was made honorary chairman.

Officers of the conference nominated Tuesday were elected today as follows: Mrs. Jno. McEachern, of Atlanta, chairman; Mrs. Marvin Williams, Barnesville, W. C. T. U. state president, first vice president; A. S. Nance, Atlanta, president Georgia federation of labor, second vice chairman; Mrs. David Nachman, Augusta, Georgia representative in general federation of women's clubs, third vice chairman; Mrs. Lewis Waelbaum, Macon, fourth vice chairman; Miss Eleanor Raoul, Atlanta, secretary, and Mrs. Cullen G. Gosnell, Atlanta, treasurer.

Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, retiring chairman, was made honorary chairman.

"A continuous barrage of letters" to the president and members of congress as a means of obtaining action on peace proposals was advocated by Miss Jeanette Rankin, first congresswoman. She suggested that peace workers take cards around for their friends to write and send to congress.

Mrs. Mead proposed eradication of the words "pacifist" and "pacifism" because "they imply nothing of interest to the average reader of a newspaper."

Values of Mothers Stressed. "Mothers are of more use in saving the nation than any armaments," Mrs. Mead declared to the convention.

"The United States in its last five wars," said Mrs. Mead, "has lost in battle less than those who have been murdered in the last 10 years which in figures is less than 100,000 persons. More than that number have died of disease."

Miss Melville Doughty, teacher in the Capitol View school, Atlanta, told of obtaining schoolwide interest in peace by suggesting a peace play at Christmas.

The League of Nations was urged to adopt a peace flag on a suggestion by Mrs. J. W. Fulghum, of Macon.

A resolution was also adopted urging the facts of peace conference and international comity be included in school texts. The resolution is to be sent to the Georgia Education Association and to the National Education Association.

No time or place for the next meeting of the conference was signified by the meeting but will be determined by the new officers.

Best Minds Flunk Test of Government.

Asserts Dr. Jack

MACON, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Theodore Jack, vice president of Emory University, declared in an address before the Rotary Club here this afternoon that the "best minds of the country will have nothing to do with government."

He cited Atlanta as a specific instance. "There are 55,000 registered voters, one out of every five voting. Things are so bad now that a person cannot find the place in which to pay his taxes," he declared. "Georgia is 'tied down by ignorance.' 'Where we put in thousands of dollars in education others put in millions,' he said."

"There is not anything the matter with Georgia," said Dr. Jack. "The trouble is with Georgians."

Rome Police Puzzled In Injury of Negro

ROME, Ga., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—

Robert Tolliver, negro, was in a hospital tonight suffering from severe burns about the body. Attending physicians said that his condition is serious.

Tolliver told hospital attendants that an auto in which he was riding was wrecked near Rome early Wednesday morning and caught fire. He said he received his burns before he could escape from the wreckage.

Police, however, are puzzled, for after a thorough search of the highways he failed to reveal the wreck. Tolliver repeated and still maintains his story is true.

Will Case Settled During Court Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Feb. 12.—

(Special.)—The Julia Dixon will case, called for the second time this week in Jefferson county superior court, ended suddenly Tuesday when a settlement was reached by the litigants.

The estate was that of an octogenarian who left properties valued at $30,000. This case was for the purpose of establishing the last will and

Hardman Negotiating Loan For Aid of Common Schools

Governor Tells State Board of Efforts To Raise Money for Use of System

Promise that Governor L. G. Hardman would borrow money for the relief of the common schools was held out following a meeting of the state board of education Wednesday.

Governor Hardman, in an informal discussion of the financial crisis of the state school system, told members of the board that he was negotiating for a loan, and could obtain it at five and one-half per cent interest, but that he thought the rate too high. Members of the board, however, expressed the opinion that a loan would be obtained by the governor for educational relief at some time after the payment on February 28 of the last portion of the state's present indebtedness for educational purposes.

The board adjourned without having accomplished the purpose which Dr. M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent, expressed at the time he requested that Governor Hardman call a meeting of the board. Dr. Duggan at that time stated that he wished to obtain the advice of the board in the face of the impending financial crisis.

Governor Hardman, ex-officio member of the board, told Dr. Duggan that he did not think it was the school superintendent's duty to give advice with reference to closing schools when it was sought by county boards of education, and that he did not have the right under the law to ask the state board of education for advice in the matter.

Members of the board reported that the chief executive expressed unwillingness to discuss the financial situation of the common schools with the board as such, but said that he was willing to go into the matter with them as citizens of Georgia, either in his office or elsewhere.

On these developments the board adjourned and went into an informal discussion of the situation with the governor. It was in the conference that the governor said that he was negotiating with banks for a loan for the benefit of common schools.

The views of the governor with regard to the powers of the state superintendent aroused some controversy in the meeting. It was reported, Dr. Duggan, it was said, cited him sections of the Georgia school code relative to his right to give advice to county boards of education on school matters, and to seek the advice of the state board when he is in doubt as to his duty.

Section 13 of the code, cited by Dr. Duggan, reads, "The state board of education shall constitute an advisory body, with whom the state school superintendent shall have the right to consult when he is in doubt as to his official duty. . . ."

Presbyterians Ready For $15,000,000 Drive

Announcement was made Wednesday by Dr. R. C. Long, stewardship secretary of the Presbyterian church in the United States, that plans are practically complete for a campaign to raise $15,000,000 through the annual "every member canvass" on March 16.

Of the campaign total $3,000,000 has been apportioned to assembly causes, foreign missions, home missions, Christian education, ministerial relief, religious education, extension, training school and Bible cause; $2,500,000 has been set aside for synods and presbyteries for local mission and educational enterprises, and $9,500,000 for pastoral salaries and current expenses of local churches.

The canvass will be participated in by 33 presbyteries in 17 synods, including 3,236 churches, 15,877 elders, 17,570 deacons and a total church membership of approximately a half million in the southern and southwestern states.

College Park Scouts Will Present Play

A one-act play and a scoutcraft performance will be sponsored at 8 o'clock tonight in the College Park city hall by members of Troop No. 1, College Park Boy Scouts.

The cast of "Tropical Isle," the short comedy being directed by Miss Manora Conley, will include Donald Aderholt, Dorothy Solomon, Kattie Mizelle, Mart McDaris, George Longino, Gus Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ward. The act will be supplemented by a performance of scout activities staged by the troop members. William C. Mizelle is scoutmaster of the organization, which is presenting the entertainment as benefit performance for the scout hut fund.

A COLUMN of the CAPITOL

By Harold Stephens

It was a dire moment at the University of Georgia in March, 1906, when Judge Hamilton laid down the law that his son, Marcus, could not play with the university team of that year.

A petition addressed to the judge was circulated among the student body: "Your son, having demonstrated his ability last season, we earnestly hope and request that you will permit him to play, thereby rendering a great service to the team, to the student body, and to the University of Georgia."

"Our opportunity to win the baseball pennant is now at hand, owing to the majority of the games being played on the local diamond, and if you will kindly consent, we feel sure that with Marcus' co-operation we can bring the honor to the University of Georgia."

It is the list of signatures attached to the petition that is interesting to contemporary Georgians. They read like a miniature edition of "Who's Who in Georgia."

Did you ever hear of William G. Brantley? . . . W. L. Erwin? . . . P. H. Welton? . . . George Hains? . . . Alex Smith? . . . J. J. and Frank B. Williamson? . . . J. A. Sibley? . . . A. H. Buncie? . . . R. P. McWhorter? . . . Thomas B. Scott? . . . Louis Moore? . . . W. F. Slaton? . . . Harrison Jones? . . . H. C. McCutcheon? . . . Asa W. Chandler? . . . H. O. Worman? . . .

On March 13, 1906, their principal interest was in securing the services of Marcus McWhorter, now statistician of the department of agriculture, on the Georgia baseball team.

Wednesday the school children of the state observed Georgia Day, allegedly the anniversary of the landing by General Oglethorpe and his followers on the Savannah coast.

The day was designated by the last legislature as one on which exercises should be held in public schools, to impress children with the significance of the state and the highlights of its history.

General Oglethorpe's landing, it seems, in reality had little to do with the selection of February 12 as the anniversary of that occasion. Historians are confused as to the exact date, and the legislature, in fixing it, was influenced largely by the fact that it was the day when the state observed the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Wonder what Ben Hill or Alex Stephens or Joe Brown would have had to say? . . . Still, "The Tragic Era" leaves the impression that had Lincoln lived only Georgia but every southern state might have celebrated his birthday.

Georgia's rural press is aroused over an effort last week to introduce private competition to the poultry cars run by the bureau of markets of the state department of agriculture.

A privately owned company, the Cochran Journal reports, "had bid on the co-operative car, but their bid was two cents per pound under the successful bidder, so of course did not get it, but they proceeded to send down an independent car and raised their price one cent per pound over the co-operative price. Our people did not like such tactics. . . ."

"The cars were placed side by side. . . . The co-operative car handled 194 sales and paid out $1,736.36 for 7,290 pounds, while the independent car looked on but did not ring up a single purchase. . . . Our people have learned that time for individualism has long passed, and that their only salvation is in co-operation."

With horse sense like that on tap—"It's Great to Be a Georgian!"

Local Merchants And Motor Men Hear Gott Speak

Value of organization and co-operation by affiliation with trade associations was stressed by Phillip Gott, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the boards of directors of the Atlanta Retail Merchants Association and the Atlanta Automobile Association at the Chamber of Commerce building here Wednesday afternoon.

"The unusually large number of mergers which have been outstanding in recent business and industrial developments have not lessened the importance of trade associations in the least," the speaker declared, "and no matter how big a corporation is, they all realize that they cannot afford to conduct their business entirely separate from their competitors. They must co-operate and work together."

Mr. Gott pointed out that local dealers could benefit in large measure by taking advantage of the services rendered by national associations in technical and consumer research work, trade promotion, establishment of uniform cost accounting systems and the adoption of standard trade terminology.

The ever-increasing importance of trade associations was ably demonstrated, he said, when many leaders of such groups were called to President Hoover's business conference.

Young Woman Sobs For Three Days

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Feb. 12.—(UN)—Miss Violet Michael, 18-year-old jewelry worker, the victim of involuntary sobbing for three days, showed marked improvement tonight, according to her physician.

The young woman was still subject to spasmodic sobbing spells, however, which came at half-hour intervals and continued for several minutes. The violence of her sobbing has calmed considerably. It was believed the attack of "sobbing sickness" was caused by nervous hysteria. Anesthetics were administered to the young woman during the past two days, to bring about sleep.

Daylight Thug Gags Victim, Steals $150

Gagging and binding C. M. Templeman, yard manager of the Empire Coal Company, at 985 Boulevard street, N. E., in a bold daylight robbery Wednesday, a lone bandit broke open the cash drawer of the open safe and made away with approximately $150.

The holdup man, described as being about six feet tall and shabbily dressed, entered the offices of the coal company and overpowered the yard manager at his desk after a hard struggle. The robber was not able to subdue Mr. Templeman with his fists alone and he brought a pistol into play. Then, binding and gagging him, the man proceeded to break open the strong box of the safe with a hammer and extract the cash.

The robbery occurred about 11 o'clock and after several hours of tugging at his bonds Mr. Templeman freed himself and called the police. Detectives A. B. Davis and G. G. Caldwell investigated. Later Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant assumed personal supervision of the case but at a late hour Wednesday night no clue to the identity of the bandit had been unearthed.

Attorney, in Bed, Bitten by Mad Cat

John B. Irvin, attorney, of 1158 North Highland avenue, N. E., today will undergo the Pasteur treatment, following a report Wednesday by the board of health laboratories that the head of a cat brought to them for examination showed that the animal was suffering from rabies. It was killed Tuesday after it had attacked the lawyer in his bed.

Mr. Irvin was awakened Tuesday night to hear the animal about his bed and when he switched on a light to investigate the cat bit him in the left hand. The household was aroused and the cat pursued and killed a few minutes later in an adjoining room.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person.

A candy Cascarel clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarels are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarels for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.—(adv.)

Cold in Head, Chest or Throat?

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours. . . . what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole.

It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars, tubes. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

THEN SHE REALIZED . . .

"a dash of Sugar

will give me that flavor... and it did

She was trying to make a French dressing such as her neighbor made. But all her experiments with familiar seasonings failed to give her the right flavor until she thought of sugar. And a dash of sugar was just what was missing!

If you ever try to copy something you have eaten somewhere, and it doesn't taste the way you know it should, give a thought to sugar.

A dash of sugar will work wonders in the making of salad dressings or piquant sauces. In broiling or roasting meats, in vegetable cookery, nothing will take the place of a little sugar in securing or developing a pleasing flavor. Many of the popular French dishes include sugar, added during the cooking process.

A quick test for finding the flavor value of sugar is to mix a pinch of it with a pinch of salt. Taste it—there's no better flavor. Use such a combination of sugar and salt in cooking vegetables. It will ideally heighten the flavor of peas, corn, spinach, carrots and tomatoes. Baste lamb chops as they broil with this mixture— $\frac{3}{4}$  teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful vinegar, 1 teaspoonful sugar, and 5 tablespoonfuls salad oil.

Where is the child who will turn up his nose at vegetables and cereals flavored with a dash of sugar? As a matter of fact, doctors and dieticians recommend the use of sugar in flavoring such foods because it makes them more palatable. The Sugar Institute.

"Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with Sugar"

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Sixteen men were injured and scores of passengers were shaken and bruised today as a string of empty cars, backing out of the Northwestern station, sidetracked an incoming suburban train from Wheaton. Railroad officials said Peter H. Larson, engineer for the empty train, failed to signal as he backed the train and disregarded a light set against him.

Good Positions Reward the Graduates of the Well-Known Southern Business College

New Pupils Enrolling Daily To Prepare for Fall Positions.

"There's always room at the top," but you've got to be well prepared, and the Southern Shortland and Business University has the reputation of being that school where thoroughness of preparation has made its graduates the choice when business men seek efficient stenographers, bookkeepers and secretaries.

Positions have been secured by quite a large number of the Southern's pupils during the last two or three weeks. The firm, employing a dozen stenographers that were trained at the Southern, when applying for still another the other day, remarked that his firm would not think of getting office help from any other source except the Southern; that the pupils from this school seemed to know business routine and could take hold at the start just like experienced office workers.

New pupils are enrolling continually, and they are doing so now in order to be ready for positions in the fall.

J. C. Hunt secured a liberal classical education and then wanted to prepare for the Commercial World, and to do so at the school where he would receive superior advantages.

Mr. Hunt selected the Southern and, as he was an apt and faithful pupil, completed the full course and secured a desirable position with the B. F. Avery and Sons Pulp Company, one of the country's largest manufacturing concerns. His letter following will be interesting to prospective pupils and others.

Atlanta, Ga., February 10, 1930. Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Shortland and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Arnold:

In view of the fact that I have completed the Combined Course offered by the Southern Shortland and Business University and have been successfully at work for more than six months, I feel that I owe you a letter thanking you and your corps of competent teachers for the interest taken in me while I was a pupil in your school.

I have found the knowledge that I

P. O. Department Awaiting Report on Site Proposal

Work Will Be Rushed as Soon as Central and Terminal Company Reply, Philp Says.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(Special.)—Officials of the United States postoffice department let it be known today that they are still awaiting a report from the Central of Georgia Railway and the Atlanta Terminal Company before making a decision on the selection of a site for the new $2,100,000 Atlanta federal building. In response to an inquiry from Representative Robert Ramspeck, of the fifth Georgia district, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General John W. Philp announced that the special inter-departmental committee in charge of the public buildings program is planning to rush a decision in the Atlanta project as soon as railroad and terminal companies report on proposals already made here for the acquisition of air rights for building mail conveyers between the new building and the station.

These proposals were submitted to President A. E. Clift, of the Central, and President R. H. Pogram, of the Terminal company, during conferences with department officials on a visit to Washington the middle part of January. At that time it was stated that the two Georgia officials would announce a decision by the first of February accepting or rejecting the proposals, but an unexpected delay has developed.

If the department's request for certain rights over the railroad tracks is accepted, the proposed central site, adjacent to the Terminal station, will be accepted, otherwise there is a chance that the new federal building may be erected elsewhere. While government officials have not yet reached the point where the matter of price to be paid for the central site has entered the discussion, the statement is made that no disagreement is anticipated.

on this score. All negotiations over the value of the site are being deferred until it is determined whether the conveyor construction privileges are to be granted.

Representative Ramspeck again urged the postoffice department to rush a decision on the Atlanta project and reminded officials that a number of other buildings planned for the section of Atlanta near the new federal structure are being held up pending definite knowledge of where the latter will be located.

Incidental to the general situation, the senate appropriations committee today ordered a favorable report on the treasury department annual supply bill, which continues the $450,000 initial fund authorized last session for beginning work on the Atlanta federal building. The bill has already passed the house, and is certain to be favorably acted upon by the senate.

In recommending an initial expenditure of $450,000, treasury officials estimated that this would meet requirements for the first year's work on the $2,100,000 Atlanta structure which will be designed to house general activities of the federal government in the city.

Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, who is a member of the appropriations committee, added his voice during the day to that of Representative Ramspeck in urging early action on the Atlanta project. Department officials promised him that an effort would be made to close up negotiations over a site as soon as the report is forthcoming from Terminal and Central officials.

Postmaster E. K. Large Wednesday night said that he knew nothing of the details regarding the offer made for a new site for the federal building. Mr. Large said that he had heard nothing definite regarding the awarded decision on the new location.

Robert R. Ois, agent for the Central of Georgia Railway Company properties here, said that he had no new information on the postoffice site matter, and that Mr. Clift, who is in Savannah, is in charge of the matter.

Mrs. Harlan (Justice) Stone Lands 65-Pound Sail Fish

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—President Hoover went out after a sailfish today and came back with exactly what he went out with—nothing.

The fishing honors departed from the executive branch of the government, where they were the first two days of the trip, and went over to the judicial. Justice Harlan F. Stone, fishing from the boat with the president, landed a 60-pound sailfish, but it remained for Mrs. Stone, fishing with Mrs. Hoover, to land the prize of the day, a 65-pound sailfish measuring 7 feet 10 inches.

Considerable uneasiness resulted from Mrs. Stone's catch. She booked the big fellow at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the moon had come up before she finally landed him. In the meantime those in Long Key grew increasingly uneasy about the president's trip, a stiff breeze was blowing and both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were in small vessels.

The Orca, a big boat commanded by Captain Herman Gray, of Palm Beach, from which Mr. Hoover had planned to fish today was turned over to newspapermen invited by the president to be his guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover thereupon took two small craft which tossed and pitched in the long swells which rolled into the gulf stream, and shortly after noon departed for the gulf stream, eight miles off Long Key, on the Atlantic side.

3 Experts To Help Study Crime Cause

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Appointment of three additional experts to assist the law enforcement commission in its study of the causes of crime was announced today.

There were Dr. Emma A. Winslow, of New York city; Dr. William M. Brown, of Lexington, Va., and Dr. Stewart Paton, of Princeton, N. J., formerly a professor and lecturer at Yale and Johns Hopkins universities. Dr. Brown was the defeated Virginia gubernatorial candidate of the anti-Smith democrats last year.

LaVarre Wins Appeal In Contempt Citation

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—William LaVarre, newspaper publisher, was granted a writ of super-seas by Federal Judge J. Lyles Glenn here this afternoon displacing the judge's order of this morning for the removal of LaVarre to Augusta to answer contempt charges before Federal Judge Bascom S. Denver.

Bail was fixed at $7,500 and LaVarre paroled in the custody of his attorneys until Saturday noon when the bond is to be posted. The super-seas gives the publisher the right to appeal to the circuit court of appeals.

STRIKE IN NEW YORK GARMENT TRADE ENDS

Employers and Workers' Organizations Sign Peace Agreement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Employers and employees' organizations in the New York garment industry tonight signed agreements officially ending a strike which for nine days has paralyzed the industry.

The signing of the agreements means that 22,000 strikers employed in shops affiliated with the various employers' groups will go back to work as soon as arrangements can be made to re-employ them. All are expected to be on the job by the first of next week. Seven thousand other workers who were employed in independent shops will return as soon as separate agreements with their employers can be signed.

Most of the independent manufacturers asked for settlements early in the walkout. The agreements ending the strike were signed in the presence of Lieutenant Governor Herber H. Lehman, who had acted as mediator, and aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee, acting mayor.

The contracts were signed for the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union by Benjamin Schlesinger, president. Acting for the employers were Louis Schwartz, president of the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers, the "inside manufacturers," and J. Sylbert, president of the Association of Dress Manufacturers, the contractors' organization and Samuel R. Parens, head of the Wholesale Dress Manufacturers' Association, the jobbers' group.

Final Services Held For Dr. Plato Durham

WARRENTON, N. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Funeral services for Dr. Plato Durham were held here this afternoon from the Warrenton Methodist church with the Rev. J. R. Martin, pastor, officiating.

Interment followed in Fairview cemetery in the Cole plot, where the bodies of the parents of Mrs. Durham are buried.

Dr. Durham, a widely-known orator and professor of church history at Emory university, died suddenly at his home in Atlanta, Ga., Monday. A native of North Carolina, Dr. Durham was one of the founders of the Candler School of Theology at Emory and from 1914 until a few years ago when his health forced him to give up the executive position he was its dean.

Dr. Durham was born in Shelby, N. C., September 9, 1873. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Lucy Cole, of Raleigh, a four-year-old daughter, Lucy Cole Durham; three brothers and his mother.

Daugherty's Son Dies Following Operation

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Draper Daugherty, son of Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in the Harding administration, died here last night.

Death resulted from complications following an appendicitis operation. He was operated on two weeks ago and apparently was recovering, although peritonitis had set in early after the operation.

Last night complications caused a consultation of physicians and a second operation was thought necessary. He died on the operating table before the operation could be performed.

Daugherty was 41 years old. He was born in Washington Court House, Ohio. He leaves a widow, who was here with him. The body will be sent to New Canaan, Conn., for burial. He formerly lived there. Harry M. Daugherty, his father, is now ill at West Palm Beach.

Dr. Carl's Simple Remedy for Gas and Constipation

Everybody knows that soda, magnesia, tablets or laxatives, give only temporary relief from gas on the stomach and constipation. The REAL cause of the trouble is not reached. In most cases, this cause is Intestinal Stasis, which is the direct result of improper exercise and not enough rough food.

Intestinal Stasis means the too slow movement of waste food matter. This waste matter stays in the body too long, ferments and forms gas and poisons.

Action on BOTH Bowels. Intestinal stasis and the diseases of which it is the cause, can be helped best by continued, REAL intestinal cleansing, and by increasing the natural activity of the bowel tract.

Dr. Carl Weselche, in his private practice, first perfected the intestinal cleanser and prophylactic now known as Adlerika. It is a compound of the best saline intestinal evacuant with vegetable buckthorn and cascara, together with glycerin and other ingredients which have detergent action. Most medicines act on lower bowel only, but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel.

Remarkable Quick Benefit. Even the FIRST spoonful of Adlerika brings out a surprising amount of old poisonous matter which you would never believe was in your system and which causes your gas trouble.

Then take Adlerika only once each day, and in thirty days you will bless the day you first heard of this too long, ferments and forms gas and poisons.

TO DRUGGISTS: We give you 10c cash for this. Not redeemed without customer's name and address PLAIN. LY written so we can write them. Adlerika Co., Dept. A, St. Paul, Minn.—(adv.)

ICE MEN CONCLUDE ANNUAL CONVENTION

Exchange Elects Gordon
Burnett Chairman of Board of Directors.

The forty-first annual meeting of the Southern Ice Exchange, held at the Ansley hotel, was brought to close Wednesday with the election of officers for the coming year. The officers elected are: J. J. Mahoney, Charleston, S. C., president; Alton Rushton, Birmingham, Ala., vice president; Walter F. Cox, Atlanta, secretary-treasurer.

Gordon Burnett, of Atlanta, was elected chairman of the board of directors. Other members of the board are: F. W. Beasley, of Norfolk and Atlanta, representing Virginia; H. DuPont Baldwin, Greensboro, representing North Carolina; Bob Jennings, Jr., Orangeburg, representing South Carolina; Coleman Rogers, Cleveland, representing Tennessee; Ralph Hancock, Marietta, representing Georgia; Horace Williams, St. Petersburg, representing Florida; R. H. Woodrow, Birmingham, representing Alabama; J. H. Morris, Jackson, representing Mississippi; Charles H. Behre, New Orleans, representing Louisiana; and C. H. Vahlecamp, Paducah, representing Kentucky.

The last day of the meeting was taken up with talks by Miss Grace Moody, Atlanta; Mrs. Julia Gray, Atlanta; H. DuPont Baldwin, Greensboro, N. C.; E. H. Diemmer, Brunswick, Ga.; M. H. Goodwin, Thomasville, Ga.; Walter F. Cox, Atlanta, and G. P. Trainor, of the Walker Vehicle Company, New York.

The Southern Ice Exchange met this year in conjunction with the Georgia Ice Manufacturers' Association and the South Carolina Ice Manufacturers' Association. Representatives from all southern states were in attendance and profited very much by virtue of the many good papers presented on the program.

Benefit Program Planned To Aid Chest Agencies

Support for Atlanta's societies of human welfare is to result from a concert at 8 o'clock on the night of February 18, in the Georgia hall of the Henry Grady hotel, arranged for the benefit of the Community Chest.

Planned originally by members of the Bolton chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, the concert was ordered by the grand matron of the order to be devoted to charitable purposes. In consequence it was placed at disposal of the Community Chest, whose desperate needs have been announced widely.

The concert will include a program by the Rhythm Kings, singing by Miss Pearl Meyers Baker, coloratura soprano, and Dr. T. G. Fowler, singer, and a performance by George Bishop, Jr., violinist.

The menace of suspension which confronts the Community Chest and its 39 agencies of helpfulness has been described by the executive committee of the organization and by its friends. Because of lack of contributions in the campaign last fall for public support, elimination of charity appropriations from the city finance sheet, and delay in county appropriations, the situation is said to be acute.

A committee representing the City Federation of Women's Clubs, appointed by Mrs. S. F. Boykin, president, will ask the council finance committee tomorrow to restore the charity appropriations to the city budget. This afternoon the Family Welfare Society, one of the oldest of the Chest societies, will discuss the emergency of the Chest in its annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 4 o'clock.

Ragsdale Urges Atlanta Mayors To Attend Ball

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, of the borough of Atlanta Wednesday moved to support the greater Atlanta charity ball to be staged March 11, at the Shrine mosque as a benefit for the Alto tubercular cottage.

Letters were addressed to all mayors and members of the greater Atlanta council, urging them to attend and to support the worthy charity, which will go towards fighting the white plague among children of the state.

The affair is sponsored by the West End Woman's Club, of which Mrs. George Ahern is president.

Text of Mr. Ragsdale's letter follows: "The good women of the West End Woman's Club have conceived the idea of a celebration of the consolidation of our communities in which we can all participate, and at the same time aid a very worthy charity."

"The occasion is the greater Atlanta ball to be held at the Shrine mosque Tuesday night, March 11, under auspices of the West End Woman's Club, for benefit of the Alto cottage for tubercular children at Alto."

"It is my intention to attend, and at request of the ladies I am writing to extend you an invitation to attend and co-operate in their plan."

Church Report Shows Many 7-Day Workers

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The information service of the research department of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America is in an issue released today says that 26.9 per cent of the men employed in the steel industry in the United States still are working the seven-day week.

The report, based upon data gathered from 155 plants in sections of Alabama, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, Ohio and Illinois, says that 46.6 per cent of the men work 10 hours a day; 21 per cent, 11 hours, and 6.7 per cent, 12 hours. The remainder work eight hours.

The plants studied employ nearly a quarter of a million men.

Wages for common labor in the plants range from 25 cents to 56 cents per hour, the report said. The age limit for new employees in 42 plants ranged from 45 to 60 years and the average limit 45 years.

Investigators were refused information in 21 factories owned by four large steel companies, the report concluded.

A., B. & C. Boosters Elect New Officers

Announcement was made Wednesday of the election of G. E. McWhite as president of the Boosters' Club of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad. The other officers elected were: W. J. Shaw, vice president, and R. E. Trippie, secretary.

Following the election of officers a banquet was held at the Atlanta Athletic Club. P. L. Graves, general agent, serving as toastmaster. The principal speaker was O. D. Kown, of LaGrange. Among the honor guests were C. F. Taliaferro, general claim agent, and George M. Gentry, superintendent of the relief department.

How FORD METHODS Cut Cost OF DISTRIBUTION

Lower profits in selling save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in manufacturing

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago the Ford Motor Company was formed to provide reliable, economical transportation for all the people. That original purpose has never changed. The constant effort in every activity is to find ways to give you greater and greater value without extra cost—frequently at lowered cost. This applies to distribution and similar important factors, as well as manufacture.

For the Ford Motor Company believes that its full duty is not only to make a good automobile at the lowest possible price, but to see that there is no waste, extravagance, or undue profit in any transaction from the time the car leaves the factory until it is delivered to your home. It is obvious that hard-won savings in production will be of little value if they are sacrificed later through excessive selling costs.

EVERY purchaser of a motor car has the right to know how much of the money he pays is for the car itself and how much is taken up by dealer charges. If these charges are too high, one of two things must happen. Either the price of the car must be raised or the quality lowered. There is no other way. The money must come from somewhere.

In the case of the Ford, the low charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories mean a saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser in addition to the still greater savings made possible by economies in manufacturing.

cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.*

The profit margin on the Ford has always been fair to both the dealer and the public. Within the past three months, it has been possible to effect still further economies. Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes off the price you pay for the car.

THE business of the Ford dealer is good because he makes a small profit on a large number of sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. He knows, too, that the extra dollar-for-dollar value of the car makes it easier to sell and more certain to give satisfactory service after purchase.

Consider also that the Ford car is delivered to the purchaser equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, an extra steel-spoke wheel, and bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes.

If for any reason you wish to buy certain small accessories, you will find that these, too, are sold at the usual Ford low prices. Replacement parts are also available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the country.

THESE are important points to remember in purchasing a motor car. They show why it is possible to put so much extra quality into the new Ford and still maintain the low price. They are also the reasons why more than 35% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed
External treatment seldom benificial.

Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to heal and strengthen the affected parts. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it. J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by all druggists who have authority to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied user. It's a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Stores—(adv.)

Publix Managers Meet Here Today For Conference

Division conference of Publix theater managers of Alabama, Florida and Georgia will be held in Atlanta today and Friday under the supervision of John J. Friedl, of New York, division director of theater management, it was announced Wednesday afternoon. Plans for the simultaneous premier in more than 20 key cities of the United States of "The Vagabond King," Paramount's spectacular "new show world" production, will be the principal subject of discussion at the two-day conference. The picture will play in Atlanta at the Paramount theater at the same time it opens in New York.

Managers of Publix de luxe theaters in this division will view "The Vagabond King" at a special screening for the theater executives only and methods of effectively presenting the "new show world" spectacle to the public will be discussed. Paramount is concentrating full attention of its merchandising department to "The Vagabond King" and it is coming to Atlanta with the production company's full assurance that it will prove the greatest sensation of several years.

Dennis King, noted star of the stage production, will be starred in the picture and a notable cast headed by Jeannette MacDonald, who made her debut in "The Love Parade," will be seen in support of the star.

"The Vagabond King" in this section will have its premier simultaneously in Birmingham, Jacksonville, Miami and several smaller cities at the same date it opens a long run engagement at the Criterion theater in New York.

Public executives attending the convention include:

John J. Friedl, New York, division director; Publix Theater Corporation; W. C. Patterson, Atlanta, district manager, Georgia and Alabama; Hal Norfleet, Atlanta, Georgia and Alabama district publicity director; Robert E. Hicks, manager Paramount theater, Atlanta; N. ## Fred Stone Makes Decided Success Of "Comeback"

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Fred Stone, a favorite theater clown for 35 years, came back to New York stage last night and resumed a career interrupted 18 months ago when he crashed in his airplane and fractured both of his 55-year-old legs.

The toes he thought would never tap again beat a lively rhythm of his favorite dancing tune of "Turkey in the Straw," and their nimble fingers were echoed in the applause of a notable audience gathered to welcome Stone back to the footlights.

Fred even accomplished a few agile handstands, and after he had shown the audience that his feet and ankles were active as ever he did a crutch dance, which he said he taught himself during his months of half-helpless recuperation.

His new musical comedy, "Ripples," contained not only himself, Fred Stone and his daughter, Dorothy, but another daughter—Paula, who chose the occasion for her stage debut and kept pace with her dancing of her father and sister.

The youngest daughter, Carol, will join her family on the stage next season.

Congratulatory telegrams flowed into Stone's dressing room from virtually every part of the United States.

Veterans Will Ask City Hall Quarters

Atlanta Post No. 390, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting Wednesday night at Hotel Ansley initiated a move to obtain a room at the new city hall as a meeting place for that and other Atlanta war veteran organizations. A committee was appointed to confer with heads of the city groups and progress will be reported at the next meeting.

Plans for a benefit dance to be held February 20, at Garber hall, also was approved.

Miller Celebrates 77th Anniversary

Tom Miller, who has served Fulton county for more than 20 years, Wednesday was the recipient of congratulations. Mr. Miller passed his 77th birthday anniversary, and, as has been his custom for some years, his fellow workers remembered the event with hearty best wishes.

"Uncle Tom" is known to everyone in his wide circle of friendship, entered the service of the county as a deputy clerk of superior court, assigned to the city court of Atlanta. He was the first clerk of the municipal court of Atlanta, and served for years as chief deputy clerk of superior court under Arnold Broyles. He was elected clerk of superior court six years ago, and is now in his second term.

Victim of Attack Removed to Home

Such improvement was shown Wednesday in the condition of the 19-year-old girl who was brutally slain about the body and burned with iodine by an alleged attacker Monday night that she was allowed to leave Grady hospital and return to her home on Ninth street. She was found bound and gagged near her home late Monday night by friends. The gang was soaked with iodine and held secure by adhesive tape.

Old Theater Man Diagnoses State Of Road Shows

Henry Pennypacker, one of the greatest of the advance agents that ever went out ahead of a show, came to Atlanta Wednesday. Mr. Pennypacker, who may recall, was the agent for the attraction which opened the Erlanger theater some four years ago—and likewise he was with the attraction that opened the Atlanta theater when it was brand-new—too many years ago to recall.

HENRY PENNYPACKER.

This year, Mr. Pennypacker is ahead of "Connecticut Yankee," which comes to the Erlanger for a week beginning March 3.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Pennypacker was reminiscing about his 35 years in the theater business. You know, talking about the old days and how times have changed and what's going to happen in the future, and all that.

"The best illustration of the change in times," he said, "is me. Here I am, ahead of one of the few road shows left in the country. I've been working for eight weeks only, this season, because there aren't any shows out any more for me to get ahead of. It's been the longest I've known in all my 35 years of experience."

"The reason why there are so few shows left on the road isn't hard to find, if you'll be honest. Simply, the shows they've been putting out aren't good enough. Nowadays, with the marvels of the talking pictures to educate them, folks all over the country expect something extraordinary when they go to a show—and I don't blame them. They're a right to expect it."

"It's only shows like 'Connecticut Yankee,' superlatively good and entertaining to the 'nth' degree, that can survive on the road today. 'Connecticut Yankee' has survived for two years—with identical the same company it started out with—and that's almost a unique record for these modern times."

"Do you know there isn't a minstrel show on the road this year? That you can number the surviving musical comedies almost on the fingers of your hand? The answer? The producers have got to give the public so marvelously good they won't be able to resist the lure to go and see it. And those kind of shows are coming. In fact, I concluded the advance agent, 'in 'Connecticut Yankee' we've got a show—"

PRIVATE DETECTIVES HIRED IN PROBE

Mr. Howard in the preparation of a mass of evidence for the grand jury's scrutiny, it was said.

Mr. Howard has been assigned a special private office in the solicitor-general's suite, and at present is engaged principally in the interviewing of witnesses prior to their appearance before the grand jury, it was said.

In addition to the examination of several witnesses, the grand jury Wednesday will give attention to presentments which will be returned at the expiration of the term, it was understood. While Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who has been handling the examination of witnesses in the grand jury room, went out of the building for a brief period, Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens, who is working up the presentments, entered the grand jury room with a thick sheaf of papers, presumably for the purpose of discussing with the grand jury the matter of the January-February term presentments.

The executive committee of the city council, which is engaged in an effort to raise funds for the assistance of the grand jury's investigation, will meet some time next week, according to Walter McElreath, chairman of the committee.

Wednesday night's session of the grand jury ended a few minutes after 8 o'clock, the grand jury having run out of witnesses. More than 30 witnesses will be summoned today, and a session from 2 o'clock this afternoon until 10 o'clock tonight is expected.

City Firemen Appear.

That the grand jury investigators are still concentrating their searchlight on the Atlanta fire department was indicated by the presence of several firemen in the witness rooms Wednesday. W. W. Gaines, member of the Atlanta board of education, was among witnesses summoned Wednesday. Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, another school board member, was seen entering the solicitor-general's offices, and it was understood that she had been summoned by the grand jury.

The work of Mr. Howard and Mr. Baley expected to speed up the grand jury's investigation, as it is understood, the attorneys are engaged principally in separating the wheat from the chaff in the prospective testimony of witnesses, in order that the grand jurors may have more definite line of inquiry when each witness appears in the grand jury chamber.

Members of the grand jury panel for the March-April term were being served Wednesday, following action of Judge Edgar E. Fomeroy, of motions division, Tuesday, in drawing the new grand jury.

Flying Teacher Killed.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 12.—(P)—P. B. Caraway, chief flying instructor for the Spartan School of Aeronautics here, was killed and John F. Tobin, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a student flyer, was injured in an airplane crash at Municipal air port late today.

Indiana Man Held For Auto Theft

Herschel Cleek, 19, of either Hagerstown or New Castle, Ind., today faces charge of extradition to Tennessee as a suspicious character. When questioned he admitted that several weeks ago in New Castle, Ind., he ordered a private cab, held up the driver, robbed him of machine and money and then drove to Chicago, Nashville and Murphysboro, where he left the car in a garage and caught rides into Atlanta, where he was arrested. He told the detectives here that his home was in Hagerstown, but when the charges were booked against him he named his home as New Castle.

Nab Florida Youths.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 12.—(P)—"Buster" Brown and Young Boyd, two white boys, left Valdosta yesterday in company with the father of Boyd, being turned over to the parent by the police. The boys took the Boyd car at Wauchoila, Fla., and started out to see the world. They went as far as points in North Carolina and decided they had seen enough and were travelling southward again when the trip was interrupted by Valdosta police and the boys were detained until Boyd's father could come here after them.

The employees put the boss to work in purchasing preferred shares in the Southern Natural Gas Corporation. It's up to him—to earn dividends—(adv.)

Chicago Artist To Give Concert At Woman's Club Friday Evening

Miss Norma Alaj, gifted lyric soprano, will appear in concert at 8:15 o'clock Friday evening, February 14, at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium, under the auspices of the Chicago Grand Concert Company. This performance Friday evening will mark Miss Alaj's first appearance in Atlanta. Following the concert here she will be heard in Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Pa., and New York city.

"Artemesia," a song composed by Guido Negri, well-known Atlanta and manager of the Piedmont Driving Club, will feature the program of this talented artist, who, in view of the friendship of her brother, Ali Alaj, of Atlanta, and Mr. Negri, agreed to include this song on her concert program. Mr. Negri is an author and composer of note and the rendition of his song will add additional interest to an otherwise unusual performance.

Miss Alaj, who has been with the Chicago Grand Concert Company for the past five months, comes from Pisa, Italy. She has sung in concert here in Chicago, Cleveland, and St. Paul, Minn. She will appear in La Boheme with the Chicago company during the coming season.

Possessing a lyric soprano voice of unusual power and sweetness, Miss Alaj has attracted large houses wherever she has appeared in concert. Her youth and pleasing personality together with the sonorous quality of her voice will render the concert Friday evening of unusual interest.

Born in Reggio Emilia, Italy, Miss Alaj spent the early part of her life in that city. She was graduated at the Conservatory of Music, of Parma, Italy. She studied exclusively under Maestro Carlo Sinigaglia, of La Scala theater, at Milano, Italy, and English singing interpretation, at the Loring School of Music, Chicago. She made her first grand opera debut in Codogno, Italy, November 13, 1928, as Michaela in "Carmen," and since has taken leading parts in both grand opera and concert on tours in the principal cities of Italy.

The program follows: Mi Chiamano Mimì, Bohème, Puccini; Stornellata, Billi—Miss Norma Alaj, accompanist; E. Volpi; The Star, Rogers; You and Love, D'Ottavio; In the Garden of Tomorrow, Deppen—Miss Norma Alaj; Polacca Brillante, Carl Maria Weber—Mr. I. M. Mayer, Awake, Belmont, Edwards; One Day, from Madame Butterfly—Miss Norma Alaj; O mia Babbino

Proud Mother!

Shannon Underwood, 8, of 375 Crew St., Atlanta, is the picture of health. No wonder his mother says: "I'm proud as can be of my little son. He's always bright, active, robust."

"I give California Fig Syrup a lot of credit for his wonderful condition. I have used it with him for every little upset or cold. It always has him back to normal in a few hours."

When a child shows by bad breath, coated tongue, liveliness or feverishness, that the little bowels are clogged, you know the signs need a prompt cleansing.

California Fig Syrup does the work quickly and gently. In addition, it helps tone and strengthen weak bowels and stomach. So it gives lasting help.

The word California marks the genuine: the pure vegetable product loved by children and pronounced safe and effective by doctors. (adv.)

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A Dainty Morning Frock.
6748. One may be busy about the house and yet look trim and neat in a pretty frock made from this model. The long waist portions are joined to gather blouse sections. Groups of tucks give fullness at the shoulders in the front—and a small vestee squares the V neck line. Attractive pockets are stitched to the front above the blouse. The shoulder lines of this style are cut long over the top of the arm, to simulate short sleeve extensions.

This pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the frock for a 38-inch size will require 2-7/8 yards of material 35 inches wide or wider. For a belt and tie of contrasting material as pictured in the larger view 3-5 yard is required 35 inches wide and cut crosswise. To finish with bias binding will require 5-1/2 yards 1-1/2 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge with fullness extended is 1-7/8 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1930 Book of Fashions.

Address orders to Beauty Fashion Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Mutual Life Co. Reports Progress

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York reports fine progress in 1929. During the year it established its highest yearly record in volume of new business written, and on December 31 the total of insurance upon its books was $4,298,774,546.

During 1929 the company paid $46,263,026 in death claims; $3,982,470 for matured endowments; $1,627,251 under annuities; $2,354,896 as income under income settlement provisions under policies; $2,633,105 under disability provisions, and $43,361,991 in dividends.

On December 31 the company's assets were $390,934,923.61, and its liabilities, excluding contingency reserve, were $928,085,330.85. The gain in assets was $63,617,644.00. The contingency reserve (surplus) was $62,849,592.76.

Fastest Ships Afloat Planned by U. S. Lines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, Inc., informed the shipping board today that his concern planned to build two ships that on completion probably would be the fastest afloat.

Under the provisions of a contract made in 1929 after buying vessels from the board, the United States Lines agreed to build two large passenger ships.

Chapman said the vessels would be in excess of 50,000 tons and would have a sustained speed of 28 1/2 knots. He said this would enable them to break the record for a trans-Atlantic passenger crossing held by the German ship, Bremen.

Why Fat WHEN SO MANY FIND IT EASY TO REDUCE

All can see everywhere that countless people have found the right way to fight fat. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat has largely disappeared. Mark the people you know who in late years have gained new youth and beauty, new health and vigor, by combating fat.

One great reason lies in the discovery that most fat people have an under-active gland. Its failure to control nutrition permits too much food to form fat. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, combat that cause.

Their method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. People have used Marmola for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. And the results have come without abnormal exercise or diet.

Why retain your excess fat when so many have ended theirs? Go try their method—try it now. Get Marmola, read the book in the box. Take four tablets daily, as directed, and watch the changes that occur. Do this in justice to yourself, to please your family and friends. You will be delighted.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Georgia Association of Artists Will Exhibit at High Museum

The exhibition of the Georgia Association of Artists, including the work of widely known artists throughout the state, will be shown at the High Museum of Art in the near future, according to a recent announcement. The exhibit which is now at the Washington Memorial Library, Macon, under the auspices of the Macon Art Association, will probably be on view here some time in March.

Before reaching Macon the collection was shown at the Telfair Academy in Savannah. From Macon it will go to Athens to be shown at Memorial Hall at the University of Georgia, whence it will be brought to Atlanta. The picture will also be shown at the new Woman's Club in Columbus and in Augusta.

The Georgia Association of Artists, which is affiliated with the Southern States Art Association, was organized last year to promote the work of Georgia artists and to afford the public exhibitions of the best in the field of art. The collection is the only temporary one for which the permanent collection in the Telfair Academy, Savannah, has ever been removed.

Prominent artists of Atlanta, Macon, Savannah are represented in the group of paintings which reveal to a marked degree the beauty and vigor which is being embodied in the work of Georgia artists. Interpretations of sunny gardens, Georgia hills, her people and her institutions have been chosen as the subjects for this collection which is so replete with local color. The Georgia association held a commendable exhibit here last year.

Lorraine Richardson, Captain David E. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, Captain Thomas H. Ramsey and Mrs. Ramsey, Captain Albert G. Wing and Mrs. Wing, Major Roland Gaugler, Lieutenant Cook and a number of others.

Major Gaugler has returned from a month's vacation in Florida. Mrs. Gaugler will remain at Key West with her mother, Mrs. Robert Blake, and her small daughters, Yancy Ann and Lenora, until late in March, when she will return to the post by motor.

Captain James A. Donahue is enjoying a month's leave at Miami, Fla. He will return to the post in late February.

The service and civilian friends of Lieutenant William Sharp are interested to know of his promotion to the grade of captain. Captain Sharp is on duty at Fort Benning for six weeks.

Major General Frank Ross McCoy, accompanied by Mrs. McCoy and his

Brigadier General George H. Estes and Lieutenant Charles R. Landon, aide-de-camp, are also away from the post on inspection duty.

The approaching spring horse shows continue to center interest and the training of mounts occupies a number of hours daily. The riding ring is a favorite gathering-place each afternoon where one watches one's friends have a try at the jumps while awaiting one's own turn.

Brown To Address Atlanta Chi Phis

Dr. Milton W. Brown, of Cincinnati, is to be the guest of honor at the Chi Phi fraternity luncheon at the Athletic Club at 1 o'clock today.

Graduating in 1894 from Ohio Wesleyan University, Dr. Brown is now a prominent Presbyterian divine. During the war he became well-known as an organizer of camp activities for the soldiers.

The Chi Phi Alumni Association announces that tickets for the luncheon today may be obtained from Rutherford Ellis, secretary, at his office, 58 Marietta street, or by telephoning Walnut 2162.

Two Are Sentenced For Stealing Autos

Pleas of guilty to indictments charging larceny of automobiles Wednesday brought five years on the chain-gang to Durant Shaddix and three years to Jack Ormond.

The defendants pleaded guilty in Judge E. D. Thomas' division of Fulton superior court. Shaddix was named defendant in 11 indictments and Ormond in six true bills. C. B. Thomas, 15, also pleaded guilty, and was given 12 months on probation, another automobile larceny case against Thomas being not-prossed.

Thirtieth Birthday To Be Celebrated By Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R.

The Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., meets Saturday at 3 o'clock at the chapter house on Fifteenth street, the occasion to mark the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the chapter. Mrs. A. R. Colcord, the regent, will preside at the short business session, at which time the delegates and alternates to the national congress in Washington, D. C., in April, who were nominated at the board meeting February 5, will have their nomination ratified by the chapter. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Christian Clarke. Mrs. J. B. Barron, chairman of entertainment, and Mrs. A. C. Whithead, chairman of hospitality, will assist in receiving the guests.

Mrs. Clarke has been fortunate in securing Colonel R. H. Peck, U. S. A., as the speaker for this occasion. Colonel Peck will give an interesting address on "Georgia Genealogy." Music will be rendered by Miss Esther Roberts, who will sing two solos.

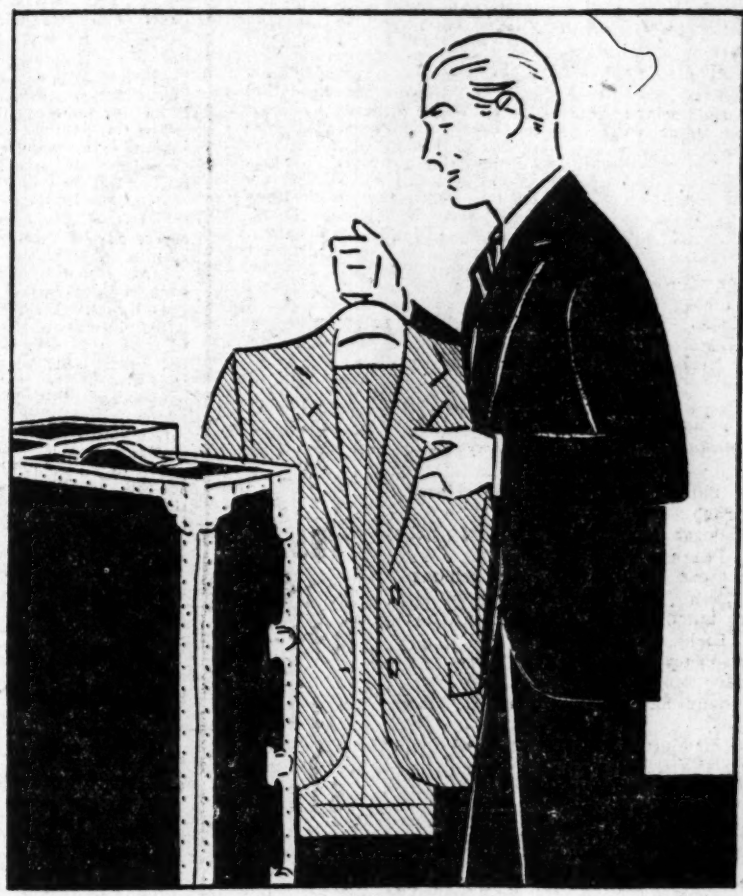

February 12, 1900, Mrs. William Lawson Peck and a number of ladies organized the chapter in the executive mansion, through the invitation of Governor and Mrs. Allen D. Chandler. On this occasion Miss Nina Hornady introduced a resolution that February 12 be named as Georgia day. The date seemed especially appropriate as it commemorates the landing of General Oglethorpe, February 12, 1733, the founder of Georgia. In celebration of the chapter's birthday a large cake is being made and donated by Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mrs. Peck's daughter. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the chapter to be present.

Wear CLEAN clothes

It takes HUNDREDS of gallons to make a suit really clean.....

COME watch the dry cleaning in these plants--then you'll never again be satisfied with half-way, "sponging-off" methods. We clean your suit through-and-through. Hundreds of gallons of fresh cleansing-fluid pass through it till every speck of dust and soil dissolves away. Every thread of the fabric is freed of deadening dust and is sterilized. The cloth has a fresher color—a live look that comes from being really clean.

Every step in our dry cleaning is just as careful and thorough as that. The deodorizing process, the molding of the shoulders and lapels, pressing the knife-edge trouser crease, mending rips, sewing on buttons—you get dozens of such services that put our dry cleaning in a class apart from ordinary work. We give through-and-through dry cleaning every time.

ATLANTA BRANCH OF AMERICAN PEN WOMEN ORGANIZED

Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin Heads Atlanta's Creative Group

Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, prominent Atlanta journalist, was elected president of the newly formed Atlanta branch of the League of American Pen Women at the organization meeting held yesterday at the High Museum of Art. Other officers elected were Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph R. Lamar, second vice president; Miss Kate Edwards, third vice president; Miss Elinor Hillyer, recording secretary; Miss Ellen Wolff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Willard Patterson, treasurer; Miss Mary Brent Whiteside, auditor; Mrs. Chauncey Smith, historian.

Presiding over the initial meeting of the local branch of the National League of American Pen Women was Mrs. Grace Thompson Seton, of Greenwich, Conn., membership chairman of the national organization and a past president of the league. She was assisted in preliminary arrangement by Mrs. John K. Ottley, who has been intensely interested in the forming of a local branch of this widely renowned national organization.

Twenty prominent Atlantans eligible for membership assembled for the organization meeting yesterday and manifested much enthusiasm over the future plans of the organization. The organization will be an interesting addition to Atlanta's cultural groups, the members including a number of the city's leading figures engaged professionally in creative work. On the roster of the National League of American Pen Women appear the names of the nation's outstanding women authors, composers of music, artists with pen, brush or pencil, in sculpture, poets, journalists and craftsmen. The next meeting of the Atlanta branch will be called at an early date by Mrs. Jarnagin.

Miss Sarah Meador Is Contest Winner At Sweet Briar

SWEET BRIAR, Va., Feb. 12.—Miss Sarah Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Meador, of Peachtree road, was a winner in the "When We Were Young" original guessing contest recently conducted at Sweet Briar college, Sweet Briar, Va. Ten prizes were awarded to the members of the faculty and student body who best identified 85 pictures of faculty members taken between the ages of two months and six years, in a six-day photographic baby contest held in the Meredith room of the new Mary Helen Cochran library. The money raised from admission fees will be the Sweet Briar chapter's 1930 contribution to the scholarship fund of the American Association of University Women.

Most of the students and every faculty member visited the exhibition once and numbers came repeatedly in an attempt to place the pictures of the children who appeared in a variety of costumes—long dresses, sailor suits, overalls, high buttoned boots, or quaint bonnets in baby carriages, sleighs, beside marble-topped tables or clasping parasols, toys or pet dogs. Many of the pictures were amusing and most were baffling in more or less remote resemblances to the present instructors at the college. The exhibition was a success socially and financially as well. Handsome prizes of tea sets, candy, perfume, silk hose, clocks, percolators, books, and room furnishings were given those handling in the highest correct scores.

Eta Chapter of Tau Beta Phi Formed.

The Eta chapter of Tau Beta Phi National Sorority was formally organized, and the meeting held at the home of Miss Eloise Kilpatrick recently. The Eta chapter of this national sorority is the first to be organized in the south, thus creating a great degree of prestige and honor for it. The other chapters are located in Washington, D. C., its growth having been rapid and very successful, due to the worthy purposes which it exemplifies and the careful guidance of its destinies. During the meeting the following officers were elected: Miss Eloise Kilpatrick, president; Miss Daisy Loveless, vice president; Miss Pauline Blanton, recording secretary; Miss Opal Crockett, corresponding secretary; Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick, treasurer, and Miss Mary Shaw, sergeant-at-arms.

The riches in Good Milk ## are STRENGTH and VITALITY

The minerals so abundant in Foremost Milk build strong bones and energy for your child.

IF he drinks his quart of Foremost Milk every day, minerals far more precious than gold will give your growing boy a strong body and energy that will take him far on the road to success in later life.

The framework of the body, as well as the teeth, are made mostly of the minerals, calcium and phosphorus. These precious elements must be supplied during the years of growth so that the body will be able to withstand the strain that comes with adult life.

A great abundance of this most important calcium and phosphorus is contained in delicious Foremost Milk. In the words of a prominent health authority, "These (minerals) are better assimilated by growing children when taken in milk than in vegetables."

At least eight other minerals are also present in Foremost Milk.

These strengthen the vital organs, energize the physical functions, and help to create that buoyancy and joy of life that only a supremely healthy little boy or girl can feel.

Produced by fine herds—rigidly tested for purity and quality—doubly safeguarded by pasteurization, Foremost Milk is richly abundant not only in minerals but in every other food element contained in milk.

Fats, carbohydrates, proteins, as well as priceless calcium, make Foremost Milk "the almost perfect food." At grocers and druggists.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

IN JANUARY, 1917, STARTLING EVIDENCE WAS BROUGHT TO LIGHT THAT GERMANY WAS SECRETLY PLOTTING TO FORM A MILITARY ALLIANCE WITH MEXICO IN ANTICIPATION OF WAR WITH THE UNITED STATES. THE PROOF LAY IN A NOTE CONTAINING INSTRUCTIONS IN SECRET CODE SENT BY HERR ZIMMERMAN, HEAD OF THE GERMAN FOREIGN OFFICE, TO THE GERMAN MINISTER IN MEXICO CITY.

THE WIRELESS MESSAGE IN BEING REVEALED FROM BERLIN WAS PICKED UP BY BRITISH NAVAL AUTHORITIES, WHO DECIPHERED IT AND AT ONCE INFORMED WALTER HINES PAGE, AMERICAN AMBASSADOR AT LONDON, OF ITS CONTENTS. AMBASSADOR PAGE PROMPTLY SENT A COPY OF THE "ZIMMERMAN NOTE" TO WASHINGTON.

The Story of the World War The "Zimmerman Note."

IN THE NOTE HERR ZIMMERMAN INFORMED THE GERMAN MINISTER IN MEXICO THAT ON FEBRUARY 1, 1917, GERMANY WOULD BEGIN UNRESTRICTED SUBMARINE WARFARE. SHOULD THIS BRING AMERICA INTO THE WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE ALLIES, THE GERMAN MINISTER WAS INSTRUCTED TO PROPOSE A MILITARY ALLIANCE BETWEEN GERMANY AND MEXICO AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, AND OFFER AS BAIT TEXAS, NEW MEXICO AND ARIZONA.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE GERMAN MINISTER WAS ALSO ORDERED IN THE EVENT OF WAR WITH AMERICA TO URGES MEXICO TO SEEK AN ALLIANCE WITH JAPAN AND MEDIATE BETWEEN JAPAN AND GERMANY. WHEN THE ZIMMERMAN NOTE WAS PUBLISHED IN THE NEWSPAPERS OF THE UNITED STATES A STORM OF INDIGNATION SWEEPED THE COUNTRY.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

A SECRET IS DISCOVERED.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Some thing 'tis best we should not know. You'll find that all through life 'tis so. —Blacky the Crow.

It was still winter. The Green Forest was covered with snow. The Green Meadows were white. It was a white world everywhere. It didn't seem as if spring were one bit nearer. Sammy Jay was thankful enough that he had a good warm undercoat of feathers. There were some days when Sammy almost wished that he had gone South with Welcome Robin and Winsome Bluebird and most of the other feathered folk. Sammy only almost wished this. You see, he is a hardy fellow and he likes to be active and flying about here and there. Thus he keeps warm. Still, winter does get a little tiresome, and Sammy was beginning to look ahead and dream of nesting time.

"It will be good to see some sign that spring is one way," said Sammy when he saw Jumper the Hare in the Green Forest. "I don't suppose we shall see one, however, for a long time yet."

"No," said Jumper the Hare. "I don't suppose we shall. I have looked for skunk cabbage around the open springs, but I haven't found one yet. That usually is the first sign."

"Well," replied Sammy, "I must be on my way. I suppose it is foolish to even think of spring in such cold weather as this. What's the news?"

"None," replied Jumper the Hare. "Unless it is news that Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty seem to be living over where Blacky the Crow lived last spring. I'm keeping away from that part of the Green Forest myself."

This reminded Sammy that it was under that very tree that Chatterer the Red Squirrel had found the black feathers which every one had supposed were the feathers of Blacky the Crow. "I believe I'll have a look at that nest," thought Sammy, as he spread his wings. Chatterer may have hidden some nuts there. Nothing would please me better than to find some nuts or acorns hidden by Chatterer."

So Sammy flew straight for the tree that Blacky the Crow and Mrs. Blacky had built their nest in the year before and had raised a family of young Crows. Sammy remembered what Jumper had said about Hooty and Mrs. Hooty, so he kept a sharp watch for them. He didn't see them. So at last he came to the tree in which was Blacky's old nest. Sammy alighted in the top of the nest tree.

He could look over to that nest. Somehow the nest didn't look just familiar. Sammy looked long and hard.

"It seems to me that that nest is bigger than it used to be," thought Sammy. "It was a good nest, but I don't remember that it was as big as that nest looks to be now. I do believe Chatterer has been using it for a storehouse and has made it bigger for this purpose. We'll soon find out about that."

"No," said Jumper the Hare, "I don't suppose we shall."

Once more Sammy spread his wings and this time he flew right straight across and alighted in the tree where the nest was. He was silent. He turned his head this way and turned his head that way to make sure that nobody was watching him. Then he flew up to the edge of the nest and looked in. What Sammy saw made him almost lose his balance. Yes, sir, he almost lost his balance! He just saved himself from falling backward off the edge of that nest. What he saw was an egg! It was a big egg. It was a dully white. At the very first glance Sammy couldn't believe that it really was an egg. He thought it must be a little ball of snow. But after the first good look there was no doubt in Sammy's mind. He knew that he had discovered a secret and he knew that that was no place for him to be. You should have seen how hastily he looked around and it what a hurry he flew away from there. He felt that he couldn't get away from there too quickly. You see, that was a dangerous secret.

The next story: "Sammy Does a Little Boasting."

New Junior Elks Order Instituted

The institution of the first junior order of B. P. O. E. known as "The Antlers" was held Wednesday night in connection with a joint observance of Lincoln's birthday and Georgia Day by Atlanta lodge 78 and the organization, complete with election and installation of officers, was installed at Elks' home by the authority of Grand Exalted Ruler Walter P. Andrews.

There were 29 original members initiated Wednesday night and they elected and installed the following officers: William Floyd, exalted ruler; Dan Williams, leading antler; Hardy Baker, loyal antler; Jack Ailer, leading antler; Jack Ilges, recorder, and Lamar Yeall, treasurer.

As a matter of business the meeting hour was set for 8 o'clock and the sessions will be held each Wednesday night in the Elks' lodge room at the Elks' Home. The initiation fee was set at $5 and the annual dues at $3, payable semi-annually.

The junior order of the Elks is open to boys between the ages of 15 and 21 and authority for its affiliation was approved by the grand lodge meeting in Los Angeles last July. The four cardinal principles are Courage, Morality, Loyalty and Justice.

Among the charter members, most of them Atlanta high school boys, are Arthur Campbell Shields, David Scott Williams, Robert Power, Jr., Fowler Herndon Hays, Jr., Richard Russell Bradley, Jr., James Harvey Baker, Jr., Benjamin Marion Dobbs, William Winfield Sorrells, James Andrew Jordan, Jr., Lamar Ben Wither, Edgar Albert Mauch, Russell K. Smith, Jr., Lewis J. Bailey, Jr., John Augustus Henderson, Jack Martin Ilges, John Parks Daniel, Jr., Charles Fleming Chastain, Andrew Shaul Floyd, Floyd William Franklin, Roscoe Jackson Ailor and Madison Lamar Beall.

MULE PACK RUM CHAIN BELIEVED REVEALED

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 12.—(P)—Twenty-five persons were under indictment here today in what the government alleges was a huge conspiracy to transport liquor from Canada to northwest cities of the United States by mule pack trains.

The conspiracy, the government charged, had resulted in thousands of dollars worth of liquor being smuggled into the United States.

Three rum rings, accused of using pack trains to bring in the liquor, were said to have resorted to camouflage to hide the long lines of plodding, liquor-laden animals, and at times to have driven the mules over United States forestry service trails.

So systematized were the widespread operations of the three rum rings that a "traffic manager" was employed to route the many pack trains from Canada to secluded places opposite the sparsely settled and mountainous Okanogan country in north central Washington.

Government agents said the Pacific manager also watched the weather and when it snowed sent white mules along the trails, the animals blending with the whiteness of the landscape. When the ground was bare bay animals carried the liquor.

An old time packer who knew how to use the "diamond hitch" in strapping pouchlike containers, onto the saddles, was employed to load the mules, the federal agents said.

Heavily armed guards accompanied the liquor trains to prevent hijackers from stealing the packs. Whiskey and wines were transported over the winding trails and upon arrival at the liquor depot were loaded into automobiles.

hiles for transportation into many cities throughout the northwest, federal agents said.

When the pack trains were overtaken by government officers, the rum runners surrendered without offering resistance.

The government will charge 51 overt acts against the defendants, most of whom were in custody, or at liberty on bonds ranging from $2,000 to $3,000.

Communists Attack German Motor Works

RUESSELSHEIM, Germany, Feb. 12.—(P)—Despite denial by officials of the Opel-General Motors Works here of communist disorders in their plant, the Hessian government today confirmed that 200 communists from Frankfurt, augmented by 400 communists among the Opel workers, had forced other workers from their machines in the plant and attempted to stop the machinery and empty the boilers.

They were led, the announcement said, by Oskar Mueller, communist leader of the Prussian diet, and a member of the Hessian diet named Sumpt.

An emergency squad of 200 police surrounded the plant and arrested the communist leaders, including Mueller and Sumpt. The Prussian police closed the frontier between Wiesbaden and Frankfurt and said the Opel works would be closed to all outsiders, with the workmen inside subjected to strict control.

county. Filed for probate today, the instrument, dated May 11, 1915, bequeathed the entire estate to the widow, Gertrude M. Alford. The preliminary estimate gave the value of the estate in excess of $400,000. Friends said the final inventory would show a much larger total.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

$1,000 in Cash Awards in the interest of Profitable Farming in GEORGIA

FOR years, the Georgia Power Company has carried on an active campaign to speed the industrial advance of Georgia. We also have sought to aid in building up Georgia agriculture. Our business is done wholly within Georgia, and our prosperity is inseparably linked with Georgia's prosperity. So, there is an obligation upon us—in our own selfish business interest, if for no other reason—to endeavor to build up all the territory we serve.

Without diminishing our effort to bring new industries to Georgia, we take pleasure in announcing an expansion of our activities in the interest of profitable farming in Georgia.

As one phase of this new activity, there will be offered during 1930, in cooperation with and under the supervision of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, the—

GEORGIA POWER COMPANY PROFITABLE FARMING AWARD

THE award offered jointly by the Georgia Power Company and its affiliated companies, the Columbus Electric and Power Company and the South Georgia Power Company, will consist of $1,000—a grand prize of $400 and three district prizes of $200 each—for the most convincing demonstrations that farming in Georgia is profitable, and particularly for those demonstrations which shall be deemed by the judges to be of greatest practical value in stimulating progressive and profitable farming by others. The winners will be determined in a contest to be conducted by the State College under conditions prescribed by the College and will be decided by judges selected by the College. The award will be presented at the convocation during the Annual Farmers Week at the College in January, 1931.

When we went to the State College asking how we might help, their opinion was that an award stressing the profits that can be made on Georgia farms and bringing to light actual provable examples of profitable money-making Georgia farms would be most helpful. It would help to restore confidence in agriculture—not only among farmers, but bankers and business men as well. It would also set up farms in various sections of the state on which the various theoretical methods of farm improvement could be tried out by farmers themselves under actual working conditions—with net profits to the farmer as the final acid test of the soundness of the methods.

It was the wish of the Company to throw the contest open to any farmer in the territory we serve. College officials had the same desire, but after thorough study they decided that more valuable results would be obtained by carefully supervising a limited number of farms and requiring that accurate and thorough records be kept on these representative farms. In the opinion of the College, this will be the first contest of this nature ever conducted, and College officials thought it would be impractical at this time to give the necessary supervision to a large number of competing farms.

The contest, therefore, during 1930 will be conducted in twenty counties designated by the College, five in each of the four geographical sections of the state. In each of the designated counties, the respective County Agents will select or be responsible for the selection of five farms, making a total of 100 farms in twenty counties in the contest. The contest will be designed so as to put all farms, large or small, whether farmed by the owner or a tenant, and regardless of type of farm, on an equal footing.

Lack of Forehand Drive Keeps Johnny Doeg From Top in Tennis

YOUTH EMPLOYS HARDEST SERVE OF ALL STARS

Richards Says Californian Could Be Champion With Good Drive.

By Vincent Richards.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution by the New York Tribune, Inc.)

If John Doeg had a real forehand drive no player in the world could beat him. Here, in a sentence, you have the lowdown on the blood giant of the Pacific coast, whose service has won him international reputation. There have been many great servers in tennis—Tilden, McLaughlin, Williams, Patterson and a host of others, but it is doubtful if any had a more deadly delivery than the young Hercules from Santa Monica, Cal.

The fact that Doeg is left-handed is partly responsible for the success of his service. The ball comes at you differently than from a right-handed player, and when it is working right it comes with such speed and low that it is almost impossible to do more than get it back over the net.

Because of the lack of effort with which he serves, Doeg can keep whipping them over all afternoon without tiring. His stroke is as natural and effortless as the swing of Babe Ruth at a baseball.

This service, combined with Doeg's ability as a volleyer, makes him a tough man to beat for a player of Lacoste or a Cochet, and even they have something to think about when they go up against him. It is a tremendous handicap for a player to know that he must keep winning his own service games, and that if he loses one he faces a great task in breaking through to equalize.

When that serve is going right Doeg is pretty sure to win half the games and stay on even terms, and if the breaks are with him the chances are that he will win the match by taking a game now and then on the other man's service.

LACKING. But champions cannot depend on breaks to win. They must go out and earn their points. So far Doeg hasn't been able to go out and earn them consistently, and the reason is that his forehand hasn't been good enough. Ground strokes are the basis of tennis. A good baseliner generally should win over a good net player who has nothing but his volley. And Doeg in the past has had little save his volley and service, and sometimes his volley has failed him badly.

When Doeg first arrived in the east some five years ago everyone hailed him as the next national champion. But after two seasons of fair success his game began to peter out and it looked as though he were on the verge of being dropped. He simply couldn't hit a forehand drive, and this discouraged him that he lost confidence in himself and his whole game went to pieces.

Last year, however, in spite of all the discouraging things said about his career, Doeg appeared in the east again, determined to redeem himself. He started badly by losing to Eddie Jacobs twice, at Wilmington, Del., and in the intercollegiate at Merion. His star was completely eclipsed, it seemed.

CHANGES. But Johnny didn't give up. He did

Baseball School Transferred Here

Almond Park has been secured for the Tubby Walton and Kid Elberfeld baseball school, to be conducted March 1-15, it was announced Wednesday. A change was recently made, transferring the school from Thomasville, Ga., to Atlanta, due to a large number of Atlanta entrants, particularly the entire Oglethorpe University baseball team.

Plans are being made at present to take care of more than 100 students, and applications are rapidly being received by Tubby Walton at his place on Whitehall street.

Some thinking and decided to make a big change in his game. For years he had been trying to hit a drive and couldn't, except on the assault surfaces in California. So he made up his mind to use the chop, the stroke he had employed the first two seasons he played in the east.

The difference was amazing. Instead of being a chopping block for every player Doeg began to go up the ladder swiftly. He won the Nassau invitation tournament, the New England championship at Agawam Hunt, the Longwood Bowl and the Seabright bowl, and he was runner-up at Southampton. To cap a remarkably successful season he won the national doubles with Lott, and gave Tilden the hardest battle he had in the national singles, leading him 2 sets to 1.

Thus the chop stroke, which has been looked down on in tennis, has changed the outlook for Doeg. He used the chop almost entirely during the grass court season in 1929, and such was his accuracy in placing it that he beat player after player with a good forehand drive. But, of course, the chop stroke alone would not have brought Doeg through. He needed his service and volley to make up for his chopping.

HANDICAP. Anyone with a record such as Doeg made in 1929 must receive serious consideration for the Davis Cup team. Those victories of last summer should make him all the harder to beat in 1930 because of the confidence they have given him.

But it is a question in my mind whether Doeg can reach the top in tennis with a chop stroke. He would be far more dangerous if he could develop a sound drive. The chop has its use and place, but it should be employed to mix up your game and not as a single drive.

There are extremely few players who have got anywhere with only a chopping game. Wallace Johnson is one, but I can think of many more. With his service and volleying ability Doeg can beat a lot of players against whom the average chopper would be lost, but to think how much more effective his net game would be if it were backed up by a vigorous drive.

It would be a financial asset to have Doeg on the team. He is one of the biggest game attractions in the game, with a large following wherever he plays, both because of his service and his personality.

It would be difficult to think of a champion closer to the ideal than this young giant, and he probably has more people rooting for him to become champion than any other player. Nine-teen thirty will be a big test year for him, and I sincerely hope he comes through in a big way.

DUNLAP WORKS AS HALFBACK IN SCRIMMAGE

Coach Alex Dissatisfied With Showing of Men in Workout.

By Herb Clark.

Somewhat disgruntled with the progress made by his charges in learning signals, Coach Bill Alexander, the Man at the Plats, sent the squad into a fast scrimmage at the close of the practice Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Bill acted on a very sound assumption. He decided that the boys were running a play over in drills, where the exact course taken is not of a supreme importance, and counting that play as one well in hand.

So to scrimmage the Jackets went Wednesday. The battle was short but speedy, with but one important change made in the lineup.

Coach Alexander expects to try the same system this afternoon and Friday, with prospects bright for another real scrimmage Saturday afternoon.

OTHERS GET CHANCE. The absence of Vance Maree, with the basketball team in Alabama, and Frank Speer, with Kid Clay and his baseball squad, left the way wide open for the other tackles fighting for recognition. Only four tackles took part in the short scrimmage, the coaches making no substitutions.

Faculties Rules Jacket Ineligible. With the faculty parking knife in action, grimly purposeful, Georgia Tech's chances for a successful season on the baseball diamond were rudely marred by the loss of Jock Hutchinson and the possible selection of Aubrey Hobbs Wednesday.

Both Hutchinson, an outfielder, and Hobbs, a third baseman, have come to grips with those who watch over the scholarly achievements of the lads at the Plats. Hutchinson took a knockout punch, while Hobbs reports himself very, very groggy but hanging on and hoping for the best.

Hutchinson was an efficient lead-off man for Coach Clay's batting list last season, a speedy man on the paths, and a steady fielder. The hole left in the outer pastures will put things squarely up to the sophs, who must now hold down the entire outfield unless Jones and Dunlap are used outside the baselines. Jones will probably be stationed in the outfield, but Dunlap is regarded at present as a promising candidate for the mound staff and it is hoped that he will make the grade there.

Colored Fighters End Hard Training

Henry Johnson and Charlie King, the principals in the main bout on Billie Hooper's boxing card slated for Friday night at the Bobo gymnasium, were both reported in fine shape after workouts Wednesday afternoon.

Johnson had a light session, being near his peak, and will take another light session today to taper off in his preparations.

King worked four fast rounds with Happy Hunter, well-known colored fighter, and put up an excellent exhibition. King will ease up this afternoon and should be in top form for the bout Friday.

Other fighters who will appear on the card, including Cowboy Kid, Kid Reynolds, Charlie Booker and Jack Cooper, were also reported to be in fine shape Wednesday.

City League

Crum and Forster took another defeat from Western Electric girls Wednesday night at the Atlanta Athletic Club, 13 to 7. Miss Dickerson was "right" again, and she broke through the defense for 8 points. Jolly scored heavily for the Crums but she played almost a lone hand in that department.

:: Ouch, That Hurt! ::

Joe Thomas Managed To Rock Primo Carnera, Man Mountain, With Hardest Punch.

BY PRIMO CARNERA.
(Translated from the Italian.)
(Copyright, 1930, by The North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Joe Thomas hit me the hardest punch I've known in my short career so far. It was in my second fight in Paris, less than two months after I first saw padded gloves.

The match was arranged because Leon See, my manager, was disappointed when I knocked out Sebillo in 30 seconds without getting hit.

From the time Paul Journee, a French fighter, took me to see, until I met Sebillo, I had been practicing at See's open air place in St. Germain. I didn't know getting hit was important. I couldn't understand why See was so bothered because Sebillo failed to land a hard punch.

See spoke to Jeff Dickson, American promoter, of my match with Sebillo. See said he wanted to find out how I would behave after being hit solidly. He told Dickson to pick an opponent sure to test me.

Thomas was a knockout with 20 victories. He stood six feet two, and weighed 200. We met in the Salle Wagram, a hole in the wall.

FAST. Thomas lost no time. He smashed me with a long left and right on each side of my jaw. He did it exactly as See had shown me on the punching bag. I was prepared. I got mad. Then I began lashing out as I had in my fight with Sebillo.

I missed a lot. Then I hit Thomas on the jaw with a lifting right. He went up in the air and then he fell down. I had won my second fight.

When I got back to my corner See was excited and began to question me. The crowd was making a lot of noise and I couldn't hear what he was saying. After while I made out that he wanted to know if I saw stars when Thomas hit me, or if I just got dizzy.

My answer was that I only got mad.

Progressive Club Defeats Petrels

Using the two-team system with effectiveness, the Jewish Progressive Club defeated Oglethorpe University, 51 to 17, Wednesday night on the South Pryor street court. The Progressives began a barrage of field goals early in the first half and continued with regularity throughout the period to lead 26 to 9 at the half.

In the second half Coach Dorfing sent in a substitute team and it continued to pile up points, and at the same time held the collegians to only eight points, one less than in the first half.

In a preliminary game the Oglethorpe Freshmen defeated the J. P. C. Reds 35 to 20.

Tramp's Mug Breaks World Pacing Mark

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 12.—(AP) Tramp's Mug, famous pacing gelding owned by J. D. Callery, of Pittsburgh, broke the track record at the Pinehurst races today when he covered the mile in the eighth annual Carolina pace in 2 minutes and 11 seconds.

The previous record was held by The Judge, a Tarboro (N. C.) horse, with 2 minutes 11.2 seconds.

The hard cup, the feature running race, was won by Bobby's Playmate, owned by J. H. Womack, of Lexington, Ky. Time for this seven-furlong event was 1:30.

Mercer Five Sweeps Chattanooga Series

Bears Win Three Games From Moccasins and Gain Berth in S. I. A. A. Tourney.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The Mercer Bears of Lake Russell, playing before the largest crowd that has witnessed a basketball game in Macon this season, made a clean sweep of a three-game series with University of Chattanooga, second ranking team in the S. I. A. A., by drubbing the Moccasins, 47-22, tonight at the auditorium.

In a game played during the afternoon, Mercer also won, 33 to 30. The afternoon game, came back to star tonight.

BUILT TO OUT-PERFORM

... the vital reason why BUICK outsells every other fine car by 2 to 1

Keep in mind, when you buy your car, that you are buying miles—and that you will get more and better miles in a Buick, as more than 2,400,000 owners have proved.

Buick builds so thoroughly—builds such extra strength and stamina into the Buick Valve-in-Head engine and sealed chassis—that many Buicks, five, ten or fifteen years of age, are still in service... and the speedometers of many of these cars register 100,000 miles and more.

You reap the full benefit of Buick's extra mileage whether you drive your Buick 10,000—50,000—or 100,000 miles. You enjoy finer, more faithful performance, day after day and mile after mile. You obtain greater motoring satisfaction all the way through—greater power, greater stamina, greater value.

Buick is built to out-perform. This, together with the beauty and comfort of Buick's Bodies by Fisher, explains why America is driving 700,000 more Buicks than any other car in Buick's price class... and why Buick today wins from two to five times as many buyers as any other car priced above $1200.

Come, see Buick's wide range of body types. Then take the wheel! A single drive will convince you that Buick is the big motor car value of the day.

BUICK MOTOR COMPANY, FLINT, MICHIGAN
Division of General Motors Corporation Canadian Factories: Builders of McLaughlin-Buick, Oshawa, Ont. Buick and Marquette Motor Cars

Buick offers 15 body types, priced from $1260 to $2070, f.o.b. factory. Marquette offers 6 body types, ranging from $990 to $1060, f.o.b. factory. Special equipment extra.

Convenient terms can be arranged on the liberal G. M. A. C. time payment plan. Buick and Marquette delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing. Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values.

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

by E. Phillips Oppenheim

SIXTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

The lawyer advanced a little from his place in the background. "I have had an interview with the firm this morning," he announced. "The point raised is, without doubt, a curious one, but to my mind admits of little argument. Mr. Adams is here at the present moment and is anxious to speak to you on the subject."

"He shall have the opportunity," Martin Hews conceded. "Let him be brought in."

A very worried-looking auctioneer presently made his appearance. Martin Hews swung round to meet him, with a scowl.

"So, Mr. Adams," he said, "you are a wonderful judge of curios, but you cannot tell a good bank note from a bad one!"

"Not unless I see it, sir," the whole situation has been explained to me. I suggest that you put the matter before your client. The last serious bidder stopped at 19,000 guineas. They were mine at 20,000. Owing to your accepting the bids of an impostor, I was induced to pay 40,000 guineas. What about that 20,000 guineas?"

"The equity of the position," Mr. Adams acknowledged, "would seem to demand that the sale should be entered to you at 20,000 guineas. At the present moment, however, I am not sure how my client will regard the matter. Mr. Yardsley has explained to me the legal aspect, but his arguments do not seem to me to be entirely sound. There is, for instance, no absolute proof that the other bidder was not prepared to pay, if his bid had been accepted. On the other hand—"

Martin Hews' hand flashed out. "You are getting wearisome, my friend," he complained. "Put the matter to your client. He can return me the 20,000 guineas, if he thinks well. If not, it really doesn't matter. The miniatures are mine."

In a sense it was a magnificent gesture—a little spoilt by the fact that he looked into the face of everyone of us for our approbation. Isaacs only groaned.

"Mr. Hews," he protested, "twenty thousand guineas, it is good money. Mr. Yardsley is sure that the law is with us."

"I have the miniatures," Martin Hews repeated. From a slim gold case he produced a cigarette and lit it.

"Half past eleven," he announced, glancing at his wristwatch. "I shall return at once. Major, your presence will be an additional protection. You shall ride with me and tell me the story of your last night's adventure. Call in my men. Give me the casket."

We left the place, a curious little procession. The wooden platforms were readjusted, and again Martin Hews performed his amazing feat, ending in a recess of the car built to hold the carriage. I took my place by his side, two of his protectors facing us, and one climbed onto the seat by the chauffeur. Martin Hews was looking out of the window.

"Now, Major, tell me about last night."

I gave him a faithful account of all that had happened and he listened attentively.

"Apparently then," he remarked, "if my little scheme had succeeded, and I really had no doubt but that it would, the result would have been—disastrous to you?"

"I think he meant it, sir," my companion said for a few moments absorbed in reflection.

"This craze of men for a particular woman is one of the most baffling problems in life," he murmured. "It exists. The pages of history are scored with tragedies to prove it. Are you built the same way, Major?"

"I expect I am, sir," I admitted. "Dear, dear, dear! And on his part he would have killed you and risked everything—risked his own capture!"

There was a momentary gleam of disappointment in Martin Hews' eyes. I knew quite well he was regretting the fact that I was not a dead man and Joseph beset with the fresh peril of my murder. With the complete ingenueness of a child he even betrayed his thought.

"Ah, well," he sighed, "after all, I should have been deprived of a very useful helper. Is that the whole story? You have nothing further, Major, to tell me?"

I produced the note with some hesitation.

"This is a copy, sir," I told him. "It was simply found in my letter box last evening."

He read it through and gasped as he came to the last sentence. He crushed it in his fist. His unusual amiability had departed. His eyes became protuberant. His lips were drawn back, his features convulsed with passion. Presently he leaned back, as though exhausted. He did not speak until we were nearing our destination. Then he opened his eyes and looked out of the window, pointing with his forefinger to the grim and hideous edifice that we were approaching at something over 60 miles an hour.

"Wonderful!" he exclaimed. "A wonderful house, that, Major!"

"Wonderful, indeed," I agreed. "The ladies of the household," he chuckled, "will be glad to see us. We will give them a treat. Major, I will celebrate alike my acquisition of the miniatures and this last nail Joseph himself has driven into his coffin. They shall lunch with us. It is not often that I exercise hospitality. You will do me the honor, Major?"

"Good," he said. "We drew up at the door, which was immediately thrown wide open. My employer waived me to descend. "Hurry, hurry, all of you," he enjoined. "Hurry, you three men. You have luncheon to serve. Now, Major, stand clear of the steps."

He shot upstairs. I made my way to my sitting room and felt almost a sense of homecoming as I entered it. A cheerful fire was burning in the grate, and several bowls of flowers were arranged upon the sideboard and table. There was also a surprise. Curled up in my easy chair, a magazine in her hand, was Rachel.

"Hullo!" I exclaimed.

For a moment she remained quite rigid. When she answered, she did so without turning around.

"What are you doing here?" "I like that!" I rejoined. "You're very welcome, but I should think I could ask you the same question."

Then she faced me and indulged in a somewhat elaborate yawn.

"Had to change rooms," she confessed. "I'm so deadly bored. I'm going to take back my what-do-you-call-it and my halter. There's nothing for me to do down here—not even a gramophone in the house. I'm fed up."

"You had better go and do your hair," I advised her. "There's a luncheon party today."

"Get on with you! What sort of a luncheon party down here?" "Well," I admitted, "it's rather a family affair. Mr. Hews, you, Miss Essier and myself."

"You're kidding," she scoffed. "I swear I'm not," I assured her. She stood up and yawned once more. There was a knock at the door and Johnson appeared.

"Mr. Hews presents his compliments and hopes that you will take luncheon with him," he said, addressing Rachel. "In half an hour, if you please."

Rachel nodded, and waited until he had departed.

"All very toney, isn't it?" she remarked. "I suppose you're used to it."

By this time I realized that she had not been told of Joseph's nocturnal visit to me. I decided to keep it to myself for the present, however. She lifted her arms and danced a few steps toward the door, humming to herself.

"I say, I'll be scared to go in there alone," she confessed. "Can I come here for you?" "Certainly, if you like," I agreed. "We will face it together."

I had never before sat down to a luncheon served more luxuriously. The dining room was paneled in old Dutch oak, and the red-lacquered walls above were hung with a dozen or more old masters. The table and chairs might have come from the palace of a Venetian doge, the glasses were Italian, with faint gold rims and strange pictures in strange colors. The silver was Georgian, the linen Florentine.

At the head of the table sat Martin Hews with his casket in front of him, the miniatures displayed in full view. Opposite him was his niece, and facing me, Rachel. Beatrice Essier was once more the almost morose young woman of my earlier recollection. She neglected even her duties as hostess, scarcely once addressing either Rachel or me. Martin Hews seemed quite content to monopolize the conversation. He gave us a dissertation upon miniature painting. He quoted all the masters from the 15th century and explained why this particular art had languished rather than progressed during the Renaissance.

"You are admiring my pictures, I hope, Major. You recognize the Meisner, of course. The Claude Monet you may not have seen. The Velasquez very nearly got me into trouble, but there it hangs for the world to see. The two Gainsboroughs please a great many people. I find them rather florid examples. Life, after all, is a queer business," he muttered, with a sudden access of depression.

"What use are 60 or 70 years to a man? Art is eternal. And life is an insignificant little chart of days, dealt out to us as though by a malevolent deity."
